NAZIS BOMB MARSEILLES, LYONS

PARIS, June 1 (AP)—Southeastern and central regions of France wedge bombed this afternoon. Several were reported killed aboard an English boat loaded with cotton which burned in Marseilles. Some 15 civilians were reported wounded in the town itself.

Earlier in nearby Lyons several civilians were killed, many others were injured and several buildings were set afire when German planes bombed the region. Lyons is in the south of France, not far from the Swiss and Italian borders. The planes came in from the Mediterranean.

REPORTED SUNK—H. M. S. Nelson, flagship of the British fleet in home waters, today was reported sunk by the German government.

NAZIS SINK DREADNAUGHT; 700 DEAD, CLAIMS BERLIN

Sinking of the 33,950-ton battleship Nelson, flagship of the British home fleet, was reported in Berlin today as Nazi armies wheeled in an attack on the Somme river—the Allies' line guarding Paris.

The announcement, by authorized German sources to the Associated Press, said 700 of the Nelson's crew of 1320 were lost, but how or where the Nelson was sunk was not reported immediately.

The statement was made in response to a question at a Berlin press conference and was not volunteered.

A correspondent told the German spokesman there had been rumors the battleship had been sunk, whereupon the spokesman replied the rumors were true and than 700 crewmen had gone down with the ship.

The spokesman declined to give any further details for "military reasons."

An International News Service dispatch said British naval quarters tonight had no confirmation of the Berlin report regarding the Nelson.

"This is like Berlin's usual claims," a spokesman said.

The Nelson, built at a cost of $38,000,000 was armed with nine 16-inch guns, heaviest in the British navy.

Loss of the dreadnaught, completed in 1927, would be the heaviest single blow the British navy has suffered since the war started.

A German torpedo sank the 29,150-ton battleship Royal Oak, a world war veteran, in Scapa Flow on Oct. 14.

The Nazis opened their Somme offensive as additional troops of the Allied armies snatched from the German death trap in Flanders reached the safety of England.

Rumanian Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu resigned because of "ill health" and was succeeded by Oon Gigurtu, a close friend of the German government.

Belief was expressed in Allied circles in Athens that a secret Greek-Italian agreement had been made, aimed at keeping Greece from becoming a battlefield if Italy should enter the war.

The French said they held against the Nazi onslaughter on the south bank of the lower Somme in a battle launched by the Germans yesterday, resumed at dawn today and still going on.

A bridgehead which the French established on the north side of the river bore the brunt of the German assault, but the Nazis struck also against French positions on the south bank.

A NEW BATTLE of the Somme appeared in process today as the end of the Flanders evacuation—and encirclement—seemed at hand. At Dunkirk all but one rear-guard division of the Allied forces were reported taken off. Encircled at Ypres and Lille were die-hard groups of French, facing annihilation or surrender. Arrows show new Allied push.

DUCE CALLS MORE TO ARMY; SPAIN WAR ENVOY IN ROME

ROME, June 1 (AP)—Italy today called up 10,000 non-commissioned officers to supplement a force of 50,000 enlisted last fall. Simultaneously, spring maneuvers were reported under way with an army corps engaged in exercises near Florence.

These developments shared the spotlight with the passage through Italy of a Spanish military mission, headed by Gen. Canovas, bound for Berlin.

Dispatches from Madrid told of growing insistance there that the British relinquish Gibraltar—a demand which has been made repeatedly by the Italian press.

Diplomatic observers linked the Spanish mission with these demands and speculated on what role Generalissimo Francisco Franco might play in the Italian fight to dislodge the British from Gibraltar.

DENY DUCE SNUB TO U. S.

Amid the tension, some observers expressed belief an announcement of Italian entrance into the war might come over the week-end. Others thought it might be delayed until Mussolini and Hitler serve an ultimatum on France and Britain demanding territories.

Nothing was known as to the subjects discussed when Italian Ambassador to Germany Dino Alfieri conferred yesterday with Hitler.

Nor could it be ascertained what, if any, messages were being exchanged by Mussolini and Pres. Roosevelt.

The report that Il Duce had refused—or had been too preoccu-

Hitler's Friend Rumanian Chief

BUCHAREST, June 1 (AP) — Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu resigned today, because of "ill health" and was immediately replaced by Ion Gigurtu, minister of communication, a close friend of the German government.

The resignation of Gafencu, who has been energetically pro-British and pro-French, came as a surprise.

Gigurtu, his successor, is 48, and former manager of a gold exploitation concern. It is understood he has been entrusted by King Carol with re-Orienting Rumanian policy to obtain better relations with Berlin and Moscow.

British Seize Clerk Fired By Kennedy

LONDON, June 1 (AP)—Tyler Kent, a clerk dismissed by the United States embassy, has been detained by order of the home secretary.

The detention was declared to have been ordered "in consequence of action" taken by U. S. Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy "in co-operation with British authorities."

The home office announcement said:

"In consequence of action taken by the American ambassador in co-operation with British authorities, Tyler Kent, a clerk who has been dismissed from the employment of the American government, has been under observation and has been detained by order of the home secretary."

It was recalled that a week ago there was a report that an employe of the American embassy had been arrested as a "fifth column" suspect.

Dorchester Parade Cheered by 200,000

One of the greatest Dorchester Day parades in the history of the district wound its way today through streets gay with flags and bunting and lined with more than 200,000 cheering spectators.

SANITY TEST FOR KILLER—Suffering from shock, handcuffed and in bonds, Frank Gomez is taken to Psychopathic Hospital by Patrolmen Harold Parker (left) and James M. Riley . . . aftermath of his confessed slaying of 17-year-old Katherine Nauer in Watertown. He'll be given a sanity test.

With the spirit of national defense strengthened by events in Europe, army, navy and veteran units among the marchers won repeated plaudits from the record throng.

Navy bombing planes from Squantum circled over the parade route, the roar of their engines a grim accompaniment to the crash of bands and the martial quick-steps of fife and drum corps.

MURPHY IS MARSHAL

Headed by Chief Marshal Leo F. Murphy and his staff, the parade column swung out of Codman sq. promptly at 2:30 p. m.

The line of march was through Washington st. to Bowdoin and Hancock sts., to Columbia rd. and Uphams corner, to Stoughton st., to Savin Hill ave., Dorchester ave. and Fields corner.

At Dorchester Town Field Fields corner, the marchers disbanded.

Robert L. Murphy, 6-year-old son of the chief marshal, acted as honorary marshal. He was dressed in the uniform of the Sons of the American Legion.

Gov. Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin had places of honor in the column.

KELLY CHEERED

The Governor was escorted by Newton American Legion Drill Team, national champions.

The Boston fire department band and drill team escorted Mayor Tobin.

Former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly, who held the highest state office ever attained by a citizen of his native Dorchester district, rode in the parade with Mrs. Kelly.

He received a continuous roar of applause from friendly thousands among the spectators.

At least a dozen bouquets of flowers were handed up to Mrs. Kelly and the former lieutenant-governor along the parade route.

LIVING FLAG

One of the most colorful and impressive of the parade features was a living flag formed by 125 girls of the Companions of the Forests of America, dressed in red, white and blue.

Military and naval units included detachments from the South Boston Army Base, the Charlestown

GIRL-KILLER RAVES IN STRAIT JACKET

Raving and violent, Frank Gomez, 23-year-old confessed slayer of his 17-year-old Brighton sweetheart, was taken from City Hospital to the Boston Psychopathic Hospital today.

During the transfer, the crazed young killer's arms were pinioned in a straitjacket and his wrists were shackled to those of two stalwart police officers.

Gomez's mental condition suddenly took a turn for the worse after he had been kept under guard, dazed and moaning at City Hospital.

Doctors said he was suffering from severe emotional shock, as well as from burns sustained when he set fire to the auto in which the body of the girl victim was later found.

PLANNED HER PYRE

She was Miss Katherine Cecile Nauer of Dustin st., Brighton.

She was stabbed repeatedly in the chest, then placed in the oil-soaked auto which Gomez attempted to turn into a funeral pyre.

Members of the victim's family heartbroken over the tragic end of a love affair upon which they had long frowned, prepared today for Miss Nauer's funeral.

DEAD IN CAR

A requiem high mass will be celebrated at 9 a. m. Monday at St. Columbkille's Church, following a funeral service at the Nauer home in Dustin st.

The girl was found dead in a blazing auto near Watertown Arsenal, at the same time Gomez was being taken to the Brighton police station by a friend.

"It looked as if we weren't going to be married. It was driving me crazy," Gomez said.

Gomez, whom police were seeking following a report that a man had been seen stabbing a girl near Chestnut Hill reservoir, had already made a similar confession to a friend, Christos Costopoulos, 20, of East Boston, driver for a Brighton market. Gomez had hailed Costopoulos in Western ave., Brighton, and had asked to be driven to his home in Orkney rd. He suddenly said, during the ride:

"Instead of taking me home, take me to the police station in Brighton. I just killed my girl in an auto and burned it."

The astounded Costopoulos accompanied Gomez to the police station, where the youth repeated his confession to police.

SATURDAY'S BRIDE—Joseph Martin of Belmont escorts his bride, the former Genevieve Doubleday, daughter of Dr. Clark D. Doubleday of Back Bay, from St. Clement's Church after their marriage today.

SELECTED from air hostess ranks by pilots and sister hostesses, pretty, blue-eyed Helen Mosier (here) will represent the Transcontinental and Western Airlines at the Air Carnival at Birmingham, Ala., today. She'll compete for the title of "Miss American Aviation."

Airplane Race With Death Ends In Engagement

A romance, coming as dramatic sequel to an airplane race with death last April, was revealed today with the filing of marriage intentions by John H. Castle, Jr., of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Dorothy B. MacAusland, socialite daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. Russell MacAusland of Marlboro st., Back Bay.

Young Castle, a Yale graduate and a student at the Harvard business school, was stricken with acute appendicitis April 4 while he was skiing at Littleton, N. H.

He was rushed to a hospital at Montpelier, Vt., and Dr. MacAusland, a celebrated Boston surgeon, flew there by airplane to perform an emergency operation.

Finding his student patient in condition to stand a few hours more delay, Dr. MacAusland brought Castle back to Boston by plane and the operation was finally performed at Brooks Hospital, Brookline.

Miss MacAusland met the plane, rode to the hospital in the ambulance with Castle and waited until her father had finished his surgery and the patient was definitely out of danger.

Miss Doubleday Becomes Bride

Against a colorful background of spring flowers and colors, Miss Genevieve Doubleday, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clark D. Doubleday of Beacon st., Back Bay, was married today to Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Belmont, in St. Clement's Church, Back Bay.

The attractive bride was given in marriage by her father, noted Boston physician and surgeon, at a ceremony performed by Rev. William A. Rogers, pastor of St. Clement's, before a fashionable throng.

The groom, a Harvard graduate, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Martin of Fletcher rd., Belmont.

A reception was held at the bride's home after the ceremony. Later the couple left on a honeymoon trip and upon their return will reside in Waverley.

J. W. Reardon Rites Take Place Monday

Funeral services for James W. "Jim" Reardon, associate editor of the Boston Sunday Advertiser, who died at the age of 70 at his home, 14 Allen st., Arlington, will be held Monday.

Solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated in St. Agnes' church, Arlington Center, at 9 o'clock, and burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Brighton.

Pallbearers will be James P. Murphy, managing editor, Daily Record; Jack Conway, sports director, Hearst Boston papers; John H. Noonan, city editor, Boston American; C. Edward Holland, city editor, Daily Record; John K. Gowen, Jr., Newton, and P. Leo MacLellan, Manchester, N. H., Hearst distributor for New Hampshire.

ELKS' SERVICES

In the meantime the body of the famous editor, one of the best known newspapermen in the United States, rests at the funeral home of D. W. Grannan & Son, 378 Massachusetts ave., Arlington, to remain through today and Sunday. Visiting hours are from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Elks funeral services will be conducted at the Grannan Funeral Home. "Jim" Reardon having been an honorary life member of Boston Lodge. Prominent Elks from lodges in Greater Boston will join with officers and members of the Boston Lodge No. 10, headed by Exalted Ruler Francis A. Killen, in the services.

Among his many other accomplishments, Editor Reardon put on the first big Elks' Flag Day ceremony on Boston Common in 1914. Out of friendship for him, the then Secretary of State Josephus Daniels, who later became Secretary of the Navy, came to Boston and delivered the oration. The tradition has been carried on annually on June 14 ever since, not only in Boston but throughout the United States, having become part of the Elks' ritual.

SERVICE IN WAR

A little known fact about "Jim" Reardon was his service in the Spanish American War, although it was one of his proudest memories.

Among additional tributes paid today to "Jim" Reardon were the following:

SEN. DAVID I. WALSH: "Mr. Reardon was not only an able newspaper editor, but was a fine citizen and enjoyed universal popularity. His death is a substantial loss to Massachusetts and it will be difficult to replace him."

SEN. HENRY CABOT LODGE, JR.: "I am much saddened to hear of Mr. Reardon's death. I hope his family will receive some comfort from the realization that he led such a useful life and left so many friends."

ALEXANDER BRIN, editor of the Jewish Advocate: "I have learned with very deep regret and sorrow of the passing of "Jim" Reardon. He was a friend of many years' standing, and I had a tremendous regard and affection for him. His activities, in journalism covered a wide field, and to each phase of the profession he brought distinguished ability, real sincerity and an industry and assiduity that were almost unique."

"Such a combination of qualities naturally resulted in accomplishments of a very high order. Having served under him as a cub reporter and later as a feature writer, I observed at first hand his keen understanding of problems. I regard him as one of the outstanding editors of our time."

Boston Colleges Open Graduation Season

Baccalaureates at four Greater Boston colleges tomorrow will usher in the graduation season which will bring degrees to thousands of young New England collegians within the next few weeks.

The first students to have their baccalaureate will be those of Emmanuel College, Regis College, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Portia Law School.

FOR WAR RELIEF

CONTRIBUTION—Capt. G. Harry Adalian (left) presents Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company check for Red Cross war relief fund to J. W. Farley, general chairman of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter . . . and today the drive had reached the $275,000 mark.

RED CROSS APPEALS TO SMALLER DONORS

To the man in the street, the mother in the home and the child still in school volunteer Red Cross workers today appealed for the final $25,000 needed to meet Boston's $300,00 quota.

Reports the Boston Metropolitan Chapter is leading its classification in the drive for $10,000,000 spurred agents toward their announced goal of "Boston Over the Top First."

"We need now a great number of $1 to $10 contributions to attain our goal. We have found the large donors very generous. Large business firms have given fine contributions, and now employe groups are showing generosity. We report today that we have received a number of contributions from employ groups, not only generous in the total, but generous in the average employe division.

"We hope now to match these groups by a flood of contributions from the residential sections, not only from those living in these places, but from the small stores. We ask them not to wait to be asked for a contribution, but to send or bring it to one of the Red Cross headquarters," J. W. Farley, general chairman, declared.

Agents greeted enthusiastically news that eight-year-old Laurel Gale of Allston street, West Medford, has offered to sell her twin kittens, Freddie and Bobtail, and give the proceeds to the relief fund.

The girl, daughter of Mrs. Stephen Gale and a direct descendant of John Alden of the Mayflower Pilgrims, was prompted to sacrifice her pets when she learned of the plight of other children in lands torn by total warfare.

Stocks Lower In Dull Trade

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—Leading stocks moved listlessly over an irregular lower route in today's brief market session.

Although plus signs were to be seen here and there, declines of fractions to $1 a share or more predominated.

Among stocks edging downward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Consolidated Edison, N. Y. Central, duPont and Texas Corp.

All Confusion As Americans Flock to Ship

GALWAY, Ireland, June 1 (AP)—Nearly 1100 Americans sought passage home on the liner President Roosevelt amid confusion today.

Passengers had their tickets, but at noon nobody knew whether they were actually going on board.

There were reports the liner Washington would call for passengers left behind because plans to carry some passengers between decks were cancelled without explanation.

The youngest passenger scheduled to sail was Baby Elizabeth Ellen Kennedy of West Orange, N. J., born two months ago. The child's father, an English citizen, is staying behind.

The ship arrived off Salt Hill last night and took on 600 tons of fuel and other supplies. While it waited with steam up, customs officials searched all baggage. The only reason for the unusual procedure was that they were "told someone was trying to take out considerable money."

Unofficially it was explained the search was for explosives. The crew was not allowed to come ashore and none but bona fide passengers were allowed on the tender or the liner.

The ship is expected to sail late tonight under sealed orders.

Liner Waits for U. S. Refugees

GENOA, June 1 (AP)—The sailing of the liner Manhattan was postponed today until noon tomorrow because of the crush of Americans trying to quit Italy before the Mediterranean is bottled up by possible spread of the war.

Americans arriving here by train to embark for home reported seeing on the way Italian preparations for war.

Many troops, at ports facing Corsica, were on the move along the coast leading toward the French frontier.

Fast-moving troops were being unloaded from trains along with heaps of munitions. Heavy-caliber artillery stood on flat cars along the line, the newcomers reported.

WPA CUT HERE HITS 9300 JOBS

In accordance with a national policy to reduce relief expenditures, WPA authorities in Washington today notified local headquarters that 9300 jobs would be lopped off Massachusetts' quota during June.

The third substantial cut since April 1, the order throws out of work hundreds of skilled and semi-skilled workers dependent upon summer employment until the 1940 WPA appropriation is passed by Congress.

While the $900,000,000 WPA bill is still hanging fire in the Senate, the Massachusetts quota reached a new low under the latest slash.

First reduction was from 101,500 to 90,000, then to 75,200, then to 65,900 for this month, the last month of the fiscal year.

Denis W. Delaney, state administrator, previously announced 100,000 workers were leaving the WPA rolls each month but recently he said hundreds had been forced to return to relief.

Veteran Postal Inspector Dies

Ernest F. Sharp, 58, for 30 years a postoffice inspector, died suddenly of a heart attack today at his home in East Elm ave., Wollaston.

He attended to his duties as usual yesterday.

Chief Postoffice Inspector John J. Breslin said:

"News of Ernest Sharp's death is a shock to us all. He was one of my best men. He was a specialist in postal leases and in acquirement of sites for federal buildings."

Sharp's wife and three sons survive.

The funeral will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Monday from Union Congregational church, Wollaston. Burial will be in Blue Hills cemetery, Braintree.

Sharp was born in Ballatie, N. Y. He entered the postal service as a railway mail clerk, and was appointed a postoffice inspector in 1910.

Third Woman Juror Ill in R. I. Trial

PROVIDENCE, June 1 (AP)—Once again today illness beset a Rhode Island jury hearing charges of conspiracy to prevent a fair and honest election.

After a mistrial had been forced by injury to a woman juror several months ago, the general assembly passed an extra-juror law and the present trial of seven North Providence men has been proceeding with two alternate jurors sitting with the 12 regulars.

Last week, a woman juror suffered an attack of arthritis but pluckily continued and is now all right. Today Mrs. Vida Lightbown of Greenfield st., Pawtucket, one of the regular 12, complained of recurrence of a nervous disorder.

Former Senator William G. Troy of defense counsel, who had attacked the constitutionality of the extra-juror law, told Judge G. Frederick Frost he would move for a mistrial if Mrs. Lightbown were excused. Pending medical examination, Judge Frost arranged to have Mrs. Lightbown continued on the panel.

WATTS HINTS GRAFT BY HUB HEALTH AIDES

In a letter hinting at graft among employes of the city health department, Health Commissioner Henry F. R. Watts, M. D., warned his 450 subordinates today against accepting money or any other valuable consideration from any person, firm or corporation under the department's supervision.

The letter also warned against selling or recommending any article or product to any person, firm or corporation supervised by the health department.

Receiving mimeographed copies of the letter, health department employes were for the most part up in arms today.

They expressed resentment that the warning should be addressed to department workers generally, if it were really aimed at improper practices by individuals.

The type of graft at which the letter semed to be directed might obviously have as its victims milk companies, ice cream manufacturers or almost any firm or individual handling food or beverages.

The letter, dated May 20, read:

"To All Health Department Employes:

"In order that the health department may not be subjected to criticism, it appears to me to be necessary to order, and it is hereby ordered

1—That no employe of the health department shall accept either directly or indirectly any money or other consideration of any description from any person, firm or corporation or the agent or servant of any person, firm or corporation supervised by this department.

"2—That no employe of the health department shall sell any article to, or for any consideration either direct or indirect recommend the purchase of any article by any person, firm or corporation or the servant or agent of any person, firm or corporation supervised by the health department.

"HENRY F. R. WATTS, M. D., Commissioner."

Mother Plans Trip to Florida To Save Son, 17, Facing Chair

A South End mother vowed today she would go to Florida to be with her son, George H. Norman, 17, who faces a fight to escape the electric chair on a charge of murder.

She is Mrs. Mae Allen of Appleton st., whose son is charged at St. Petersburg with the murder of a watchman in a $12 holdup.

The youth, taken to Clearwater jail after waiving a preliminary hearing, told reporters:

"I guess things will go hard for me."

State's Atty. Chester B. McMullin would not say definitely yet whether or not he would ask the death penalty in young Norman's case. Under Florida law a person can be sentenced to the electric chair regardless of age.

Mrs. Allen announced that she and the boy's step-father intended to go to his aid, following their return from a trip to Clinton where lives the youth's grandmother, Mrs. Catherine C. Norman.

The couple made the visit to talk to Clinton police and rally help for the boy. She said neighbors had pronounced her son a model youth during his life in Clinton, spent with his grandmother.

Young Norman had been working in Florida as a dishwasher in an exclusive club and allegedly staged a holdup to obtain sufficient money to return to Boston.

Victim's Plea Wins Clemency for Maid

The plea of her victim that she be given a chance to "go straight" won clemency in Newton district court today for Pauline Russo, 21 of Crescent st., Waltham, who pleaded guilty to larceny of $100 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Dorothy Weston, teacher of business law at Lasell Junior College in Auburndale.

Judge Thomas Weston gave the girl a probationary sentence of one year, and ordered her to make restitution of $100 to Mrs. Weston. She was also ordered to pay back $30 to Miss Rita Cassinelli of Mill st., Newton Center, from whom she had stolen a wrist watch.

Pershing Hailed By First AEF

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Twenty-three of the 191 men who sailed for France 23 years ago as the first American army contingent in the World War came to the Capital today for a reunion with their chief.

Gen. John J. Pershing—grayer and thinner, to be sure, but with that same straight back and flashing eyes—commands the group as he did May 28, 1917, when they boarded the S. S. Baltic.

With marked modesty they call themselves simply the Baltic Society, though they include some of the most distinguished figures of the American expeditionary force.

Amidst new reminders of old memories, they will get together at the Army and Navy Club tonight for their reunion.

In the original Baltic party were 56 officers, 68 field clerks and civilians and 67 enlisted men. There were Eddie Rickenbacker, noted aviator and automobile racer; Frederick Palmer, the writer, and Col. Charles E. Stanton.

Nazis Say Booty Offsets Losses

BERLIN, June 1 (AP)—The German armies' material losses in the blitzkrieg on the Western front have been fully made up by booty taken from fleeing and captured British and French troops, German sources said today.

These circles said an untold number of brand new pieces of motorized war machinery fell into Nazi hands, as well as cannon of all calibers.

The English especially were said to have fled in such disorder that they even forgot to incapacitate their guns temporarily by removing the breeches.

Hundreds of thousands of rounds of rifle and machine-gun ammunition, as well as large supplies of shells—some fitting German guns—were found among what was termed "immeasurable booty."

Newspaper Heads To Greet Major Berry

Executives of Boston newspapers will be among the guests who will welcome Maj. George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Presamen, who will speak before Boston locals Nos. 3, 18, 21 and 67 on Monday at Hotel Bradford.

Another speaker will be Edward F. McGrady, vice-president of the Radio Corporation of America, former assistant secretary of labor, a former South Boston man, who started his life's work as a pressman.

Ash Pan Ties Up Commuters

More than 1700 North Shore commuters on the Boston & Maine Railroad were delayed from 18 to 40 minutes today when the Portsmouth express due at the North Station at 8:13 a. m. dropped an ash pan from its engine at the Chelsea-Revere line today.

The accident severed an airline and the entire North Shore division was tied up.

The disabled engine was shuttled to a siding and the coaches were attached to the Rockport express, which proceeded to the North Station.

Girl Who Posed as Policewoman Sent to Hospital

Found guilty of impersonating a policewoman, red-haired, attractive Eleanor Hallinan, 22-year-old Malden and Boston nursemaid, was committed to Psychopathic hospital today for observation.

Judge Samuel Eisenstadt of Roxbury court continued disposition of the case to June 10.

Special Officer Edward C. Koen of the Back Bay police station testified the girl approached him in the Fenway as he sat in his parked auto in civilian clothes.

FLASHES BADGE

Taking a seat beside him, Koen said, Miss Hallinan asked him:

"You're a married man, aren't you?"

He said he was. Then the conversation, according to the officer, proceeded as follows:

"I guess you don't love your wife very much."

"Oh, yes, I do."

(Here Miss Hallinan allegedly flashed a gold badge and said sternly:)

"Let me tell you, young man, I'm one of three policewomen assigned from headquarters to watch parkers and mashers here in the Fenway.

SEIZES HER

"I've a good mind to lock you up. But I'm going to give you a break. If you went to court, it would cost you $25."

At this point, Officer Koen testified he produced his own badge and asked the girl:

"Did you ever see a badge like this before?"

She attempted to jump from the car, he told the court, but he seized her and arrested her.

Big Battleship Launched; Navy Lauded by Walsh

PHILADELPHIA, June 1 (AP)—The 35,000-ton battleship Washington, first capital ship addition to the United States fleet since 1921, was launched into the Delaware river at the Philadelphia Navy Yard at 10:16 a. m. today before a cheering crowd of 30,000.

Wartime restrictions blanketed the Navy Yard as the $65,000,000 "battle wagon" slid down the ways.

Fifteen-year-old Virginia Marshall, great-great-great granddaughter of Chief Justice John Marshall, christened the battleship in honor of her home state, Washington.

Senator Walsh (D.), of Massachusetts, chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, declared in an address to the gay throngs of spectators that the launching signalled the "beginning of a renaissance of naval preparedness" that will protect the United States from any attack.

"The American people," said Walsh, Chairman of the Senate Naval Committee, as he spoke at the launching ceremonies, "are determined at all costs to prepare for any eventuality that may follow the European war."

He added that the United States had completed one today, would complete another on June 13 and had six under construction.

"WORST CONDITION"

In considering British naval losses by air attack, Walsh continued, one should take note that the British navy operated under "the worst possible conditions."

"Due to the limited range of aircraft, our self-sufficiency in food, and our geographical location, the United States is not confronted with a similar situation," he said.

Referring to controversy over the relative merits of air power and sea power, Walsh contended that "an adequate navy, capable of meeting and defeating an enemy's navy at sea, is the only sure way that war can be kept at a safe distance from our coasts and the only sure way to bring a war to a close.

German Pilots Flee New British Planes

CHARIOTS OF WAR

U. S. Puts Marines On War-Time Basis

By NEWELL ROGERS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

AN AIRDROME SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHEASTERN ENGLAND, June 1 (INS)—Ten minutes from the hell of modern aerial combat I watched Britain's first squadron of super-fighter Defiants, accompanied by a bevy of Hurricanes, sweep off from the last airdrome on this side of the channel to stab into 80 Germans above Dunkirk.

Eighty-five minutes later they returned after shooting down 12 German planes—that is, most of them returned in time to sit with us in the mess and drink tea as casually as you step down from a bus in your street at supper time.

They swept in with bullet holes in their tails and guns still warm. At least half a dozen did not return. That is the price the Royal Air Force is paying today to help part of the British expeditionary force escape from the inferno of Dunkirk.

It was uncanny to wait under the summer sun at the field, watch these deadly wasps soar off, then hear their droning return and count with tightening heart the number missing.

GRIM EXPERIENCE

Distantly across the channel a great pennant of smoke drifted above the French coast, visible behind the May blossoms and whitened trees ringing the airdrome.

Combat has brought the "bag" of German planes shot down by the Defiants to at least 56 since Sunday, I was told.

My trip here marked the first time any correspondent has been allowed near a Defiant fighting plane or the pilots manning them. It was a grim, inspiring experience; grim because I witnessed the heavy odds facing the R.A.F. and inspiring because I saw the casual fortitude with which the young fliers are offering their lives in the battle.

En route to the field I saw workers tearing up sign posts to baffle German parachute troops, should they attempt to land in Britain. The official car in which I was riding was stopped four times by patrols and the roads swarmed with tanks and with motorcyclists in concealed positions.

MOUNT FOUR GUNS

Anti-tank and anti-aircraft guns disclose that Britain is taking in deadly earnest the threat of a German invasion on the model of the invasion of Holland.

Today this airport is literally the front line, with the channel a No Man's Land.

The sting of the Defiant fighter is its automatically revolving, splinter-proof glass gun turret, which mounts four machine guns. The gunner sits just behind the pilot. The plane's engines develop more than 1000 horsepower. Its estimated speed is upwards of 350 miles per hour.

A squadron leader told me:

"These are wonderful planes. Only two of us here had previous combat experience. My pal here shot down eight enemy planes in one day.

"When they see us the German fighters turn away unless they are in overwhelming force. They are masters of decoy traps, but we know their tricks now.

"Our planes look like Hurricanes, which only fire forward. The Germans get set on our tails for pot shots and then we let them have it"

OFF THE ASSEMBLY LINE—Adding to the great number of tanks France already has in the field, an imposing array of the iron monsters come off the assembly line in a French factory ready to be put into action.

WASHINGTON, June 1—Creation of a "foreign unit" of the U. S. marines to be divided between the east and west coasts and to be available for emergency duty abroad, was announced today by the Navy Department as Congress pondered President Roosevelt's request for emergency authority to mobilize the National Guard.

The new naval unit was made possible by Mr. Roosevelt's recent recommended increase of 9000 men in the corps as a whole. It will be divided between Parris Island, S. C., and San Diego, Cal.

The Parris Island unit will include the Seventh Marine Regimental Headquarters and a service company; three infantry battalions and one battalion of the 11th Marine Regiment (artillery).

The San Diego unit will be composed of the third battalion of the sixth Marine regiment (infantry); the third battalion of the eighth regiment and the second battalion of the 10th regiment. Two other battalions are to be organized, their assignment to be announced.

The President's request for emergency authority to call the National Guard, and army, naval and marine reserves was made to Congress yesterday in connection with his proposal that the preparedness program be raised from approximately four billion to five billion dollars "for the critical days which lie ahead."

Duce Calls More Men, Sees Spain War Mission

pied—to accept a message from Pres. Roosevelt through the United States embassy brought a denial from Ambassador William Phillips that he had asked to see the premier in recent days.

"If I had anything to communicate," he said, "the normal channel would be through the foreign minister."

Meanwhile, Pope Pius XII received Spain's ambassador to the Holy See in private audience.

Comments in the press left little doubt Italy intends to enter the war as a German ally, but the question of where and when she intends to strike was veiled by a grim official silence.

The most significant new development was publication of an editorial in Internationali Relazioni, leading foreign affairs commentary, declaring Italy's territorial demands upon France and Britain "will be enforced by arms."

Fascist leaders expressed resentment over the reported arrest and internment of Enrico Mizzi, Italian political leader, by British authorities in Malta.

Coincident with the clamor over Mizzi's arrest, papers and radio broadcasters played up an article in Arriba, Spanish Fascist party organ, attacking English possession of Gibraltar, which commands western end of the Mediterranean and is headquarters of the contraband control which already has provoked strong anti-Allied sentiment.

BLASTS AGAINST FRENCH

Collapse of the Allied effort to improve relations with Italy by easing the Mediterranean contraband control was reported in London, where authoritative sources said Italy earlier in the week had indicated she considered these negotiations ended.—Editor's note.

France, meanwhile, was the object of a new series of posters displayed throughout the country which proclaimed that the Island of Corsica, Napoleon's birthplace was by rights Italian.

Greece, her independence guaranteed by the Allies, was warned by Fascists that partisanship toward Britain and France or an Allied move toward Salonika, Greek port which was a World War Allied naval base, would bring Italian troops marching through the Balkans.

In the midst of this anti-Allied barrage, Americans hastened their preparations to sail from Genoa aboard the U. S. liners Manhattan and President Harrison.—Editor's Note.

The Manhattan originally was scheduled to leave today, but officials of the line said the task of accommodating 200 passengers on a ship which ordinarily carried 800 would hold her in port until tomorrow. One dining room was converted into a dormitory for students from North American Theological College in Rome.

Two more Italian emergency measures went into effect today. Civilian automobile traffic was suspended to conserve gasoline, while laundry soap was put on a rations card system that already applied to coffee and sugar.

Britain Seen Ready To Put Move Up to Duce

LONDON, June 1 (AP)—Alternative suggestions to Italy to replace proposals for easing contraband control which have been turned down by the Italian government are "under consideration," informed foreign office sources declared today.

Diplomatic sources outside the British government, however, asserted:

"The Allies have finished making advances to Italy. The next step is up to Mussolini."

France Resigned to War With Italians Soon

PARIS, June 1 (AP)—France decided today to withhold approval of commercial and economic accords with Italy which were ready for signature, and government spokesmen seemed resigned to the prospect of Italy's early entrance into the war. It has been said all preparations were complete for such an eventuality.

"Something is expected to break fairly soon," said a French spokesman.

A ministry of information spokesman had estimated Italy's final decision would come in the first half of June.

Meanwhile, according to French diplomatic reports, Soviet Russia is exerting "stronger pressure" daily in the Baltic States.

SEEK U. S. SANCTUARY

NEW YORK, June 1 (INS)—Betty Sinclair, English movie star and her husband, George Yared, Egyptian movie producer, will apply for American citizenship when they get to Hollywood, the newly-married couple announced upon their arrival aboard the American Export liner Exeter.

FBI to Probe Fifth Column

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—Creation of a "National Defense Investigation" unit was announced today by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hugh H. Clegg, veteran G-man and at present an assistant director of the FBI in charge of training and inspection, was appointed to head the new group, which will have among its duties investigation of "Fifth Column" and similar activities considered prejudicial to national safety.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that the Dies committee would hear testimony, beginning Monday, on reports that Communists were employed in the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Birmingham, Ala., steel industry. Chairman Dies (D.), of Texas, said merely the committee would look into "Fifth Column activities in the South."

Dies proposed that President Roosevelt create a council of home defense to coordinate the nation's anti-Fifth Column campaign under "constructive, sane leadership."

Ford Meets With Aviation Experts

WASHINGTON, June 1 (INS)—A surprise conference between Edsel Ford and government aviation experts raised speculation in the capital today over the part the vast industrial resources of the Ford Motor Co. might play in the nation's preparedness program.

A spokesman for the company recently said the firm's plant could be converted almost overnight and that within six months could be turning out military airplanes at the rate of 1000 a day.

Spain Guards Allied Envoys

MADRID, June 1 (AP)—Armed guards were posted at the British and French embassies and consulates today as students demonstrated against British possession of Gibraltar.

Police dissolved one group which reached the Puerta del Sol. Another crowd quickly formed and began shouting "Gibraltar! Gibraltar!" They also sang the Spanish Fascist hymn, "Face to the Sun."

FRENCH SPY MUST DIE

PARIS, June 1 (AP)—The military court of appeals rejected today the appeal of Jean Gaston Amourelle, a former senate stenographer, from a death sentence for espionage.

NAZIS SAY NELSON SUNK, 700 KILLED

front while still hemming in remnants of the trapped Allied armies in Flanders, a new phase of the war began.

The Allies expected, and Germany hinted, a Nazi attempt to roll down on France before loosing any attempt to invade England.

Italy still hovered on the sidelines, apparently drawing steadily closer to the decision which might send her armies northward while the Germans pushed southward in a gigantic pincers in France.

Italy called up 10,000 non-commissioned officers today to supplement a force of 50,000 while both in Italy and in Spain clamor grew for Britain to relinquish Gibraltar—her stronghold at the western gate of the Mediterranean.

The reckoning varied, meanwhile, in what the British called the greatest rescue in military history.

Unofficial British estimates that three-fourths of the B. E. F. had reached Britain meant that from 130,000 to 140,000 Tommies of the 175,000 sent over to face the Nazi blitzkrieg had been rescued.

Gen. Gort, British commander in the great Flanders evacuation, arrived home and was decorated by King George. His return to England was taken to mean evacuation of his armies was virtually complete.

500,000 NAZIS KILLED

The German price for the Flanders triumph, British newspapers said, was half a million men, the toll taken by the Allies' rearguard fight and their warships and planes surrounding the embarkation from Dunkirk with a screen of steel and explosives.

But the Germans estimated they had 1,000,000 Allied prisoners, not counting the Belgians and the Dutch, or will have when the mop-up in Flanders and Artois is complete.

They said they had taken 26,000 in a pocket south of Lille alone and had recouped their material losses by booty abandoned by the Allies in flight—brand new motorized war machinery and cannon as well as hundreds of thousands of rounds of machine-gun ammunition and large supplies of shells.

Despite adverse weather, the German high command said Nazi fliers had sunk five transports, damaged three warships and ten merchantmen in raids on Dunkirk. Speedboats, it said, also sank an Allied destroyer and an Allied submarine.

CLAIM 49 PLANES

In the air, the Germans said the score for yesterday's fighting was 49 Allied planes lost to nine German planes missing.

The British, however, declared they had shot down or seriously damaged 86 German planes at a loss of only 19 in forays on German troops, motorized columns and artillery in Flanders. A naval plane was credited with sinking a Nazi torpedo boat off the Belgian coast.

As a new battlefield took shape along the Somme with another BEF forming on that front, the Allied supreme war council met in Paris and a communique announced:

"Gave full proof that the Allied peoples and governments are more than ever implacably resolved to pursue in the closest possible concord their present struggle until final victory is achieved."

The action around Abbeville was mentioned guardedly in official communiques, but military sources indicated the French had launched a surprise attack, led by 20-ton tanks, to capture a German bridgehead on the south side of the Somme.

FRENCH TAKE PRISONERS

Capture of the city itself, on the north side of the river, was not claimed, but the French said they had taken hundreds of prisoners and large quantities of war material.

A French military spokesman declared the Germans are launching attacks from the sea on small ports, fishing villages and beaches between Boulogne and Dunkirk. He said the Nazis are using small torpedo launches, airplanes and mines.

The Germans reported these naval successes:

Five British transports bombed and sunk outside Dunkirk.

One destroyer and one submarine sunk by torpedo speedboats.

SIX DESTROYERS SUNK

Three destroyers or cruisers and 10 merchantmen totaling 70,000 tons badly damaged by bombs.

One warship torpedoed by a Nazi submarine off Ostend.

The high command said the latest successes increased to six the number of destroyers sunk by speedboats in the channel, and the number of submarines to two.

Reports from Dunkirk indicated that the evacuation of the Allied troops in that area had continued throughout a night made hellish by the glare of gunfire and exploding bombs.

Lines of troops streamed into the city, largely reduced to ruin by days of heavy German shelling, and were embarked on the beaches in small boats which took them out to the waiting transports. The withdrawal was described as orderly.

The fate of some rearguard units, however, remained a subject of deep concern. Though two of Gen Rene Jacques Adolphe Prioux's motorized French divisions that have been standing of fthe attempts of Nazi panzer units to thwart the withdrawal were reported to have reached Dunkirk, two others were said to be isolated.

Allied planes dropped ammunition, food and medical supplies to these isolated troops as they attempted to fight their way toward the coast, 15 miles away.

ARMORED WALL ON FLANKS

A thin armored wall of tanks guarded their flanks in a modern version of the ancient phalanx

The fate of Gen. Prioux himself, reported by the Germans to have been captured, remained obscure.—Editor's note.

When King Leopold III ordered the surrender of the Belgian army last Tuesday and thus laid open the Allied left flank, the B. E. F. appeared to be faced with the alternatives of putting up the white flag or being annihilated by an onrushing German army of some million men.

There has been neither surrender nor annihilation. Covering the withdrawal of the British army Hitler sought to destroy, British and French forces still are waging a furious rearguard action against the Nazis closing in on the narrowing Dunkirk corridor.

DROP IN SAND DUNES

An artilleryman told how thousands of soldiers had spent two days among the sand dunes without food or shelter as German planes bombed them continually. He said the men joked and played cards, and even started a football game to keep up their spirits.

An officer said, that when the Nazi bombardment was at its peak,

"I spent hours lying in ditches, with my teeth clenched and my fingers wedged in my ears, my face buried in the weeds."

Another artilleryman said:

"The Germans asked for a truce to bury their dead after a 36-hour barrage had held up their advance. We replied, 'There's no truce,' and gave them another seven hours of barrage."

But if the Tommies were cheery, the lines of women and children that lined station platforms as the troop trains rolled in were strained and tense. They plied the men with fruit, cigarettes, tea, sandwiches—but at the same time they searched frantically for sight of husbands, sons and brothers.

Elsewhere they waited, their hearts filled with dread, for publication of the inevitable casualty lists.

Keyed to high confidence by smashing victory in Flanders, Germany marshaled her forces for another trip-hammer blow at the Allies amid increasing rumors that Italy is about to enter the war on her side.

Britain, it was believed, would be harassed with sporadic aerial raids and long-range artillery fire until France is cleaned up and the Fuehrer is ready to turn west across the channel.

Furthermore, they pointed out, Germany has absorbed some of Europe's richest industrial areas through the fighting of the last few weeks, adding to her own resources and seriously weakening those of France.

The authoritative commentary, Dienst Aus Deutschland, said that one of the most important results of the recent German successes was to deprive France of much Dutch, Belgian and British coal, leaving her access to barely 20,000,000 tons annually to fill yearly requirements of 70,000,000 tons.

WARBIRDS CAGED—Captured by the French during west front action, German fliers are lined up in a barbed wire cage behind the lines during roll call. Nazi Aviation Chief Goering claims German aviators have been mistreated . . . and has ordered the chaining of captured French fliers.

GORT QUITS FLANDERS, DECORATED BY BRITAIN

LONDON, June 1 (INS)—Viscount Gort turned his command of the British expeditionary force over to a lesser superior officer today and returned to London as the heroic British evacuation from the Flanders death trap appeared to be all but complete.

First announced in an official communique, Viscount Gort's return was immediately interpreted by neutral quarters as the most encouraging news since the first British withdrawals from Flanders under the scathing Nazi bombardment.

Previous statements had indicated the veteran commander would be the last man to leave the embattled. Unofficial reports indicated that only one B. E. F. division remained in Flanders tonight.

Immediately upon his arrival Gort was received by the King who bestowed upon him the Knight Grand Cross of the Order of Bath for his brilliant work in directing history's greatest troop evacuation.

The official communique announcing the commander's return was cryptic but encouraging. It stated:

"As a result of the progress made in the evacuation and the consequent reduction in the size of the force remaining in northern France, Gen. Lord Gort on the order of His Majesty's government handed over his command of the remaining troops to a lesser senior officer and returned to London this morning."

The latest estimate that Lord Gort left behind only a single division in Flanders was based on opinions of latest troops to arrive in England.

Thief Jailed For Robbing Benefactor

Found guilty of stealing the life savings of a 63-year-old woman who had befriended him, Chaney Randall, 24, of Bay rd., Revere, was sentenced today to four years in jail. He appealed and was held in $5300.

Judge Frank D. Crowley of Chelsea court branded the defendant the "worst kind of thief, worse even than a man who goes out with a gun."

In tears on the witness stand, the victim, gray-haired Miss Sophie Nyberg of Revere, told how she treated Randall "like a son."

"I was sorry for him and his wife and three children," she testified.

"They lived in my house and couldn't pay their rent. I gave Randall work and let him have the run of my home.

"The money he took was my life savings. I had drawn $2500 from the bank. I was going to pay bills and taxes and use the rest to obtain admission to a home for the aged in Malden.

"When I began missing sums of money, which I had hidden, I set a trap for Randall. I put a dummy money envelope in a drawer and I hid in a closet and caught him."

'TWILL BE no great surprise to many of their friends if Alice Faye, screen singer-actress, and her former husband, Crooner Tony Martin, become Mr. and Mrs. again . . . for it's said they're still "very much in love." Their marriage reportedly went on the rocks when Martin's work in New York kept them apart.

Tinkham Sees U. S. Intervention Lunacy

Intervention of the United States in the European war would be "the pinnacle of lunacy."

Such was the opinion of Rep. George Holden Tinkham, veteran Back Bay legislator, incorporated in the Congressional Record at Washington today as part of his telegraphed correspondence with Ellery Sedgewick, former editor of the Atlantic Monthly, here.

"The foreign policies you have confidently and no doubt conscientiously supported for 20 years have now brought us to the brink of disaster. Will you now push us over?

"In time the public always learns the truth, and just when the victory of sane domestic politics seems certain at the polls, the conviction that under isolationists' leadership world democracy is in deadly peril stands fatally in the path of Republican victory," Sedgewick wired Tinkham. "Our highest duty," Tinkham replied, "is to keep democracy alive here. War means the setting up of a dictatorship, the abolition of a free economy, the imposition of censorship and espionage—in short, the establishment of a totalitarian government here to fight totalitarian governments everywhere.

"This would be the pinnacle of lunacy for a country which believes in liberty and freedom and can maintain its neutrality and preserve its integrity."

TIME AND TIDE WAIT FOR NO MAN

Be Sure That You Have Completed Your Entry (All Fifteen Series)

BEFORE MIDNIGHT TONIGHT... SATURDAY, JUNE 1st

Answers Sent by Mail Must Be Postmarked Not Later Than That Date and Hour.

The old adage is true as ever, as the Record - American Rebus Game swings into the final hours. To you, it is most significant, for it is closely linked with the opportunity that is yours to win $10,000.00 cash.

As the final stroke of twelve rings out tonight, the Rebus Game is closed, and all entries must be complete, right through the 15th Series. The office of the Record-American will be open until that hour tonight to accept your final series and any previous series that you may not yet have submitted.

Mail submissions will be accepted, of course, but they must be postmarked not later than midnight, tonight, June 1, 1940.

Check your answers carefully before mailing or bringing them in. Be sure that your name and address appear legibly on each submission.

Do your share to win your share of the big money!

Mistress Mary's Garden

Improved Gloxinias

By T. W. LEGGETT

Gloxinias in recent years have been improved out of all resemblance to the old types. Instead of small, drooping flowers, pretty as they were, we now have compact growing varieties with attractive foliage and large flowers of various colors held well upright.

The Gloxinia seed is very fine and requires careful handling. Sow evenly and not too thickly. One method is to mix the seed with a little silver sand. Barely cover the seeds with fine sand. Cover the pot with a pan of glass and keep in a temperature of 60 degrees F.

When the seedlings appear, very careful watering will be required to prevent damping-off, and as soon as they can be handled transplant in the same kind of soil. Save every possible plant. Have the leaves resting upon the soil without covering the crowns, giving each one room to develop. Keep in good light. As soon as large enough, and before the plants become crowded, pot singly in three-inch pots. Use the same soil combination but somewhat coarser for this potting.

Before the plants become rootbound, move into five-inch pots in soil made somewhat richer by the addition of a little finely ground bonemeal and wood ashes.

While making good growth, plenty of water is required as well as good drainage. Weak liquid manure can be applied twice a week until the blossoms appear, but not later. Shading from strong sun is important. Good ventilation is needed at all times, but cold drafts of air must be avoided.

In the Autumn as the foliage begins to yellow, gradually withhold water until finally, when the foliage passes, watering is entirely discontinued. Keep the pots dry through the Winter in a temperature of 50 degrees.

Dear Mr. Hoftyzer:

Thought you might be interested to know that the sharkskin dress at $2.98 which we advertised in Friday, May 24th, Record and American, met with a great deal of response.

The response to our advertisements in your paper has steadily increased and the mail order response, in particular, has been extremely gratifying.

HOMES TO BE OCCUPIED BY TYPICAL FAMILIES AT NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR

Family Selected by Boston American Will Spend Full Weeks' Holiday Here

Typical Family of Bay State To See All Fair Attractions

Every attraction in the huge New York World's Fair of 1940 will be open to the Typical American Family in Massachusetts when that fortunate family is chosen for its gala vacation in the week of July 22.

This marvelous trip, provided by the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser, in cooperation with the World's Fair management, is so complete that it even includes a maid to do every bit of housework while the family lives in a completely furnished model house within the exposition grounds.

It is one of two FHA model houses, recently constructed and then furnished throughout by Sears Roebuck & Co., the same firm which will completely outfit the Massachusetts family before it starts on the trip.

ALL EXPENSES PAID

From the time the fortunate family leaves Boston until it returns, every cent of expense will be paid for it in the way of transportation, meals, housing, admission to the Fair and entertainment.

The contest is open to all Massachusetts families of American citizenship, and the winner of this grand adventure trip will be selected as soon as possible after the deadline for entries, which is midnight of Saturday, June 15—two weeks from tonight.

OTHER PRIZES

And remember—in addition to the principal award to the winning family, there are four other World's Fair prizes for the next four families picked as runners-up:

Second prize: Free transportation; round trip between Boston and New York via New Haven Railroad; free admission to the Fair for three days; free entertainment and guides—plus $30.

Third prize: Free transportation via American Airlines; free admission for three days; free entertainment and guides—plus $30.

Fourth prize: Free transportation, via Eastern Steamship Lines, cabin and meals free; free admission to the Fair for three days; free entertainment and guides—plus $20.

Fifth prize: Free transportation, via New Haven Railroad, between Boston and Providence, and Colonial Steamship Lines between Providence and New York; free cabin and meals, plus free admission for three days, free entertainment, free guides and $20 cash.

Here Are Official Rules for Family Contest

1—The Typical American Family Competition, conducted by the Boston Sunday Advertiser and Boston Evening American, in co-operation with the New York World's Fair of 1940, is open only to citizens of the United States residing in Massachusetts.

2—The name and address of each family, with the number of children, boys and girls, must be submitted on the official entry form, together with a letter of not more than 300 words describing the family and explaining why it should be selected as the Typical American Family in Massachusetts. No photographs will be returned.

3—Entries will NOT be judged by the literary style or excellence of the letters submitted, but strictly on the qualifications and characteristics of the family.

4—A recent photograph or clear snapshot of the family must accompany the entry.

5—The entry of a candidate family may be submitted by a relative or friend, or by a member of the family.

6—Entries close on Saturday, June 15, at midnight. The completed form must be mailed or delivered to the Advertiser-American Typical American Family Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, Mass., before that time.

7—The selection of the Typical Family will be made by a committee of distinguished Massachusetts men and women will qualified to establish the requirements of a Typical American Family, and the committee's decision will be final.

8—The parents and two children of the Typical Family selected, the eldest child to be not over 18, will be transported from Boston to the New York World's Fair and back by automobile, with all meals and hotel expenses paid. They will be entertained at the Fair for one week, beginning July 22, without any cost whatever to themselves. The Family, while at the Fair, will live for one week in a completely furnished house built inside the Fair Grounds in accordance with the standards set up for home construction by the Federal Housing Administration. The house accommodates four persons, and for this reason only four members of the Family selected may go to the Fair. The Family will have complete freedom of action as to what they want to do and see. They will, in fact, live each day as they would during any normal holiday period.

9—It is understood that entrants give permission to publish photographs and stories of their Family.

10—This competition is not open to employes of the Boston Sunday Advertiser-Boston Evening American, nor of other publications or advertising media.

Nolan Stars At Trans-Lux

By DON WARD

"Gangs of Chicago," a well-directed, low-budget product out of Republic Studios, is currently unreeling on Trans-Lux screen. With the always dependable Lloyd Nolan and Barton MacLane heading the well-chosen cast, it should do well at the box office.

Republic is to be congratulated on not turning out just another gangster picture. This one, in addition to good direction and casting, can boast an outstanding production. It also has some rather novel twists and if a little more thought had been expended on the script, "Gangs of Chicago" might have been stepped up several notches.

Briefly, Nolan, embittered when his father has been killed by the police for petty larceny, decides to take revenge and learn all the legal wiles. He lines up with MacLane, gang boss, while still in college. G-men hire Ray Middleton, a college pal, to spy on him. Middleton is shot and Nolan risks his life to save him by telling all.

As underworldlings, John Harmon and Dwight Frye are excellent. Astrid Allwyn's racket gal is easy on the eyes but you'll be disappointed to see that Lola Lane has been neglecting her streamlining.

Bette Davis and Leslie Howard co-star in the second feature, which is the not new but still good "It's Love I'm After."

Pops Enter Fifth Week

The Pop concerts will enter upon the fifth week of their 55th season in Symphony Hall next Monday evening (there will be no Sunday concert tomorrow night). Leon Tumatkin will be the soloist at the Monday concert, appearing in Tchaikovsky's First Pianoforte Concerto.

The concert of Thursday has been entirely taken for the benefit of the Palestine Orchestra Fund.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

THE PARADE of June brides and debutante parties begins today with a number of society girls changing their names at fashionable weddings and two of the 1940-41 debutantes making their social bows at a luncheon in Cohasset . . .

On the North Shore wedding guests will no sooner wish Susan Brewer and her bridegroom, Dr. Benjamin L. Huntington, bon voyage on their wedding journey than they will assemble in Christ Church, Hamilton, to witness the marriage of Marian McKean to Edward Wigglesworth, Jr. . . .

Miss Brewer, daughter of the Robert Brewers of Manchester, is being married in St. John's Church, Beverly Farms at 12:30 . . . Her father is giving her in marriage and her gown is fashioned of white satin with her mother's wedding veil and a bouquet of white orchids, lilies of the valley and bouvardia . . .

Hyacinth marquisette, with matching hats and colorful bouquets of garden flowers fashion the costumes of the seven attendants . . . The bride's sister's, Mrs. Charles R. L. Sturgis and Elsie Brewer are the honor attendants and the bridesmaids include Julia and Mary Barbour, cousins of the bridegroom; Barbara Bremer, Mrs. John W. Pierce, Lusita Leland and Mrs. William T. Kemble . . .

John H. Huntington is his brother's best man and the ushers include several of the bridegroom's associates in the medical profession . . . Following the wedding rehearsal last evening Julie and Louisa Barbour entertained at a large party at the Myopia Hunt Club in honor of the bridal couple . . .

* * *

MARIAN McKEAN, one of America's top ranking women skiers, is the daughter of the Henry Pratt McKeans of Beverly Farms . . . and her bridegroom, Eddie Wigglesworth, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth of Chestnut st., Boston . . . The tall, brunette bride, has chosen a gown of white silk jersey for her marriage and her attendants, who include her sisters, Mrs. Andrew Marshall, Jr., Mrs. R. Bennett Forbes and Pauline McKean, are also wearing gowns of this fashionable fabric . . . A reception is being held at the McKean home . . .

* * *

Alvan T. Fuller, Jr., Takes Bride

A BEAUTIFUL GOWN of French faille with a bodice of eylet embroidered organdie was worn by Lenore Reynolds of Manchester, N. H., for her marriage this morning to Alvan T. Fuller, Jr., son of Ex-Governor and Mrs. Fuller of Beacon st., and Little Boar's Head, N. H. . . .

The bridal gown was made with Bishop sleeves, a high neck finished with a narrow ruching and faille lacing down the front of the waist . . . She carried an ivory prayer book with orchid markers and her tulle veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms . . .

The ceremony was solemnized by Bishop John B. Peterson in his private chapel in Manchester, and a large reception followed at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Alice K. Corey . . . The latter wore a gown of periwinkle blue crepe with a matching hat and Mrs. Fuller chose a costume of bois de rose chiffon . . .

* * *

Bridegroom's Sisters Are Attendants

Lydia and Mary Fuller, the bridegroom's sisters, Hope Halsey, his cousin, and Rita Lockwood, of Manchester, were the attendants . . . all wearing garden pink marquisette gowns with Bishop sleeves, sweetheart necklines and a narrow beading of pink lace and velvet ribbon edging the neckline, cuffs and waist . . . Their hats of natural leghorn had pink velvet streamers and they carried old fashioned bouquets of vari-colored flowers . . .

A profusion of white tulips, lilies, stock and snapdragon decorated the chapel for the ceremony and Miss Gorey's home was decorated with spring flowers . . .

The bride, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Leonard K. Reynolds, is a graduate of the Marymount Finishing School at Tarrytown, N. Y. . . .

Peter Fuller was best man for his brother and the ushers were Robert Tappan, who will be married to Anne Stickney two weeks from today, Robert Henderson of Boston, and Robert Southworth of New York.

LENORE REYNOLDS of Manchester, N. H., who was married this morning to Alvan T. Fuller, Jr., son of ex-Gov. and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller of Beacon st., Boston. The ceremony was performed by Bishop John Peterson in his chapel in Manchester, and followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Alice K. Gorey.

Cairns-Keville Ceremony

Kathleen Keville, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. William J. Keville of Belmont, becomes the bride of C. Dougles Cairns, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Cairns of Belmont, today, at a small family wedding at Boston College. Father Fahey is officiating and the couple are welcoming their friends at a reception at the Algonquin Club.

The bride's gown of heavy white satin has a full skirt, sweetheart neckline and long tight sleeves. Her tulle veil falls from a cap of rose point lace and coronet of orange blossoms. Mrs. Frank Shapard Abbott of Boston, the former Nancy Cairns, the matron of honor and only attendant, is wearing a picturesque gown of blue crepe with a hood, and carrying purplish blue pansies to match the little bouquet in her hair.

Mrs. Keville has chosen a costume of powder blue crepe, with a hat and slippers of magenta. Arthur Lynch of Woodbridge, Ct., is best man, and the ushers include Edmund V. Keville of Newton, William J. Keville, Jr., of Belmont, brothers of the bride; Joseph McInerny of Dorchester and Frank S. Abbott of Boston, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride, a graduate of the Brimmer and Erskine Schools, made her debut in the 1934-35 season. Mr. Cairns was graduated from M. I. T. in 1936 and is in business in Norwich, Ct.

MUSIC CONSERVATORY STUDENTS AT PROM

Mr. Wallace Goodrich, director of the New England Conservatory of Music, and Mrs. Goodrich, were patrons for the junior-senior prom at the conservatory last evening.

Others included Quincy Porter, dean of the faculty, and Mrs. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Gibson, Mrs. Elizabeth Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Lenom, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. C. Lehmann and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Findley.

The student committee included Ralph Stronach, Marjorie Nesbitt, Clarence Mosher, Elizabeth Creamer, Sumner Peterson, Joseph Foley, Clara Shedd and Russell Cetlin.

Emmanuel Reunions

Emmanuel College Alumnae's banquet will be held at the Parker House Roof Ballroom tonight, with Marion McDonald Sheehan, '25, Melrose, as toastmistress, and Margaret A. Sullivan, 34, Revere, as chairman.

The reunion classes are planning elaborate programs to celebrate the occasion. Emma Grandfield, '25, Roslindale, is chairman of the 15th reunion of the class of '25, which will appear in full force at the banquet, with all their members from New York and elsewhere in attendance.

The class of '30, with Anne Hogan of Cambridge as chairman, has made extensive plans for reunion activities.

Rose Mullin, '35, of Dorchester, is chairman of the fifth reunion for her class.

Nina Keppler Newton Bride

Wearing her maternal grandmother's wedding gown of white taffeta with organdie ruffles, Nina Keppler, daughter of Captain Chester H. J. Keppler, U. S. N., and Mrs. Keppler of Newton, is being married this afternoon to James S. Dusenbury, Jr., son of Col. J. S. Dusenbury, U. S. A., and Mrs. Dusenbury of Lansing, Mich.

The ceremony in St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, is being followed by a reception at Brae Burn Country Club. Completing the bride's outfit is a tulle veil with a coronet of heirloom lace and she is carrying a bouquet of white sweet peas and gardenias.

Polly Keppler, her sister's maid of honor, is wearing delphinium blue lace and net, with a blue horsehair hat and bouquet of yellow roses. Similar costumes of pale yellow, with matching horsehair hats and bouquets of blue delphinium are being worn by the four bridesmaids—Melora Hobbs, Elsie Colby, Helen Dane and Mrs. George Leavitt, sister of the bridegroom.

George Leavitt is best man and the usher staff includes Granton Dowse, Horace Burton, Sidney McCleary, Charles Dusenbury.

Roxbury Cast In Comedy

St. Hugh's Christian Doctrine Class of Roxbury will present "Sunshine," a three-act comedy on Monday evening, in St. John's School Hall, Roxbury. Rev. Joseph H. Bernard, spiritual director, is in charge and Mrs. Mary Mahoney of Cambridge is directing the talented group.

Leading parts will be played by Marie Orvitt and James Hollahan, assisted by the following cast: Adelaide Woods, Mary Fitzgerald, Francis Drago, William Orvitt, Enos Campedelli, Virginia McManus, Paul Michalowski, John Stroup and Vera Drago.

A performance for the children will be held on tomorrow afternoon in St. John's Hall, Roxbury.

Birthday Horoscope

Sensible Idea

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm a student and have very little money. The other night I invited a fellow student—a girl—to go to the theater and the best I could do for her was the top gallery. The girl accepted gleefully, but the people with whom I live said it was very bad form to invite a girl up there. How about it?

STUDENT.

Very sensible for you to invite a fellow student to the top gallery, and no bad form about it at all. Much more sensible than if you did without a couple of meals so you could sit in the orchestra. To me, it seems snobbish and pretentious to convey the impression you have more money to spend on amusements than you have actually. Wish more young people were as sensible as you are.

Compressed Washcloths For Travelers

By ARLINE GOULD

HOW ARE your summer plans shaping up? By all the signs, there will be a terrific exodus all over this continent . . . everyone stimulated to pack up and go places. So any short cuts to excellent grooming will be life-savers on any trip, long or extended. And here is a swell suggestion:

Whether you're going by train, plane, car, boat or bus . . . just pack up your washcloth troubles in a cute little "sponge traveler" and relax!

It's a unique little miniature suitcase, to fit in your fist, and in it are compressed disc washcloths . . . which you can toss away after you've finished! The whole package takes no more room than the average washcloth, and ten "washcloths" are but 75c.

It's a wonderfully hygienic, efficient and easily disposable compressed washcloth which originated in France . . . and makes bath and face cleaning rituals a pleasure. Notice the illustration. It's hard to believe that such tiny checkers could produce such a large, fluffy washcloth. And it's wonderful fun to moisten them, and see them unfold to full-size, all by themselves.

With these little aids, you'll avoid many unhappy consequences caused by damp washcloths . . . no more fretting about discovery of a suitcase full of damp clothes or uncreased box pleats and trousers.

And always the bandbox look for you, wherever you go. They are a grand thought for week-end hostesses. The height of practicality where children are involved. Good to have in the office for a real clean-up after work when you have a dinner date in town.

If you'd like to learn all about these compressed washcloth marvels, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, inclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Martha Lee, Anne Adams, Anne Brent and Carol Ames are regular features on the women's pages in the Daily Record.

A FLUFFY, soft face cloth is a beauty treat . . . for tired travelers, time-bound vacationers . . . and under the pressure of the most inadequate facilities . . . you can have the pleasure of a good scrub by using an hygienic compressed cotton disc, which unfolds in the water to the size illustrated . . . no more damp washcloths bungling up your luggage! Arline Gould tells all about this discovery.

Here's Your 'Sauce Magic'

By MARTHA LEE

THERE'S nothing like a really appetite-intriguing sauce to pep up a simple dish or make economical left-overs taste like an Epicurean treat—a rich Hollandaise, for example, or a creamy mushroom blend or a pimiento sauce to all zest. They smell—and taste—hard to make, but not if you make clever use of that newest culinary aid, glycerine!

The paramount difficulty with Hollandaise even in the hands of an expert is the risk of curdling, but the addition of glycerine helps to prevent this danger and keeps the sauce lusciously smooth.

With the cream sauce, the same ingredient makes a richer sauce and also enhances the keeping qualities so that if desired, the sauce may be made ahead of time to suit the homemakers' convenience, stored away in the refrigerator, and then reheated when ready to serve. With the pimiento sauce, you'll be surprised how deliciously the glycerine blends and accentuates the flavor.

In case you want to try "sauce magic," here are the recipes:

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

2 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. flour
½ tsp. salt
1 cup boiling water
2 egg yolks, beaten with
2 tbsp. glycerine
Juice of ½ lemon
1 tsp. chopped parsley
1 tsp. onion juice.

Mix butter and flour. Add carefully to the boiling water. When thickened remove from heat and add gradually the yolks which have been beaten with the glycerine. Add salt, lemon juice, onion juice and parsley.

CREAMED MUSHROOM SAUCE

4 tbsp. butter
4 tbsp. flour
1½ cups top milk
2 tbsp. glycerine
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2-3 cup chopped mushrooms.

Melt butter and blend in flour. When it bubbles add milk and glycerine, mixed, salt and pepper and cook until thick and smooth. Add mushrooms and keep hot until served.

PIMIENTO SAUCE

2 tbsp. butter.
2 tbsp. flour.
½ tsp. salt
1 cup milk
2 tbsp. glycerine
Pepper or paprika
2 or 3 pimientos, rubbed through a sieve
¼ cup finely chopped green olives

Melt butter and all glycerine. Remove from stove, add flour and seasoning until flour is dissolved and smooth. Add milk gradually and return to heat—cook stirring until sauce starts to thicken—add pimientos and olives—continue cooking until sauce is as thick as desired.

The addition of the glycerine keeps the sauce smooth—and makes it richer.

FAVORITE RAISIN TARTLETS

Tart shells
1 lb raisins
1½ walnuts halved
3 tbsp lemon juice
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar

Mince tart shells. Put raisins and nuts through food chopper, using medium knife. Moisten with lemon juice and add one-half of brown sugar. Turn into pastry-lined muffin pans; sprinkle with remaining brown sugar. Bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) for 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 20 tartlets.

New Colors for Summer

By ANNICE BRINK

NOW the summer color scheme opens up . . . and with the first navy or black and white splurge well under way, to continue with its conservatism through the summer . . . the newer ideas are appearing in the shops.

One of them is the shade called "milk chocolate" . . . and suddenly it presents itself as a chic change from pastels, in afternoon frocks for graduation festivities and weddings. A thought for the young "mother of the bride!" Very smooth looking it is in draped rayon jersey. And intriguingly new in a triple sheer, trimmed with matching dyed lace.

A summer navy and blue crepe ensemble looks excitingly new because of its unusual treatment of the print. We're well accustomed to reverse, or twin prints in different fabrics. This is a very snooty ensemble that has "import ant" all over it!

And this is how it's done: Starry white flowers are spaced closely for the crepe frocks itself . . . but the pattern is widened for the full-length ensemble coat with it, for this time the same starry white flowers are spaced at two-inch intervals. The coat is a floating flared type with shoulders absolutely unexaggerated . . . which is a fashion to watch.

With this ensemble is a hat which is equally notable . . . a profile-tilted large straw of navy with navy and white streamers wound around the hat and floating off over the right shoulder.

Hillbilly Songs for Fun

HAVE A SINGIN' GATHERIN' WITH YOUR CROWD

Applause from your friends when you suggest a real old-fashioned singin' get-together!

Everybody loves hillbilly songs, tender mountain ballads. So open your songbooks, pick a favorite—"New River Train" is a good one—and sing!

"Darling Love, you cannot love two,
No, you can't love two and profess that you are true,
Darling Love, you cannot love two."

Keep the fun going on dates, parties with these delightful airs, given complete in our 40-page songbook, 22 Favorite Hillbilly Songs. Has lovely melodies of the southern mountains, spirituals, gay ditties. Favorites, old and new—complete with words, music, piano accompaniments, guitar diagrams.

Gift Necessary?

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Please inform me how to respond to a notice of betrothal of a girl acquaintance in another city. Should a gift be sent, or a letter, or just let it pass? G. W.

Since this girl is only an acquaintance of yours, it is not at all necessary for you to send an engagement gift. Engagement gifts aren't customarily given, except perhaps by relatives or very close friends.

But I do think that, if I were you, I wouldn't just let this news "pass" without some kind of acknowledgment from you. Write her a warm-hearted note, thanking her for sending you her news.

EVENING AMERICAN, SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1940

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S latest departmental reorganization order—which transfers control of aliens from the Department of Labor to the Department of Justice—meets with general approval.

The manner in which Secretary of Labor Perkins has administered—or rather maladministered—the deportation laws has been a public scandal for years.

SEC'Y PERKINS
Largely to Blame

Worse than that, the Immigration and Naturalization Service under her direction has persistently opposed legislation to strengthen our existing weak laws and has repeatedly endeavored to procure legislation that would have made these laws still weaker.

The case of Harry Bridges, whom the Department of Labor effectively "whitewashed," has enabled the country, as well as Congress, to understand the New Deal Labor Department's HABITUAL ATTITUDE.

Indeed, if the Administration now finds the country being overrun and endangered by "Fifth Column" spies and saboteurs, THE ADMINISTRATION ITSELF IS VERY LARGELY TO BLAME.

Its own LABOR SECRETARY, a member of the President's Cabinet, is the public official who has been most responsible.

THERE WERE TWO WAYS of dealing with this wholly inexcusable situation—either to put a new Secretary of Labor in jurisdiction over the deportation laws, or else to put these laws into some other jurisdiction.

In the grave emergency that has arisen, the President has chosen to keep his Secretary of Labor in office, and to make Attorney-General Jackson responsible for the enforcement of all alien laws.

From an Administration point of view, the change decided upon is commendable.

Naturalization proceedings are a function of the Federal courts, which are connected more closely to the Department of Justice than to any other department.

ATTY.-GEN. JACKSON
Should Accomplish Much

The department is now charged with the investigation and prosecution of espionage and sabotage.

Its Federal Bureau of Investigation is the most efficient agency for procuring evidence of such criminal offenses.

Under the same general supervision will now be brought 1000 immigration inspectors and 800 patrolmen, performing related work.

The Department of Justice thus acquires an augmented corps and increased authority for coping with the undesirable alien problem, with virtually UNLIMITED POWERS of law enforcement in its hands.

However, it is not especially important WHAT department has jurisdiction over the subversive activities laws IF THE LAWS ARE NOT TO BE STRINGENTLY ENFORCED.

NOT SO LONG AGO, a group of Communists and Communist sympathizers was indicted by a Federal grand jury at Detroit for violating a Federal statute by recruiting "soldiers" for "Red" Spain.

This action was taken by Frank Murphy while he was Attorney-General of the United States.

Before the indictments could be tried, Mr. Murphy was promoted to the Supreme Court.

At the same time, the Communists and their "Fellow Travelers" began a vindictive "smear" campaign against the Federal Bureau of Investigation—and one of the first actions of Mr. Jackson, the succeeding Attorney-General, was to DISMISS THE INDICTMENTS, although he absolved the F. B. I. of the false charges made against it.

What the Department of Justice SHOULD DO, in its new responsibilities, is to support Congress in getting better immigration and deportation laws—and strictly to enforce whatsoever such laws as we have.

What the Department of Justice DOES DO in these matters will be very closely scrutinized.

-:- -:- MY DAY

NEW YORK CITY, June 1—I wonder if any of you have been fortunate enough to hear the Coronado Exposition radio program from 3:30 to 4:00 Eastern Daylight Time, every Sunday afternoon?

These programs give one an idea of what there is to see if one is able to visit the States of New Mexico and Arizona during the next few months.

Two of the series have already been given and two more are coming in the next two weeks. The next one will particularly feature the Indians and what they have of interest to show this year at the Coronado Exposition, which opened in May and covers a variety of interesting places in New Mexico and Arizona.

WHILE travelling to it, there are many other interesting things to see. For instance, the work being done by the Upland Association in the Cumberland Mountains of Tennessee.

The Upland Hospital and Health Center was founded by Dr. May Cravath Wharton to try to give adequate medical care to the people of these mountain regions, who are so often ill largely because of chronic undernourishment and lack to opportunity for any medical advice and care.

The staff goes out from this hospital and covers 600 miles of rugged mountainous country. It extends its service through this area by holding mother and baby clinics and regular clinics in the most isolated sections.

THE hospital itself now has 50 beds and owns 130 acres of land. Tuberculosis takes a heavy toll in Tennessee because, wherever it occurs, the whole family is exposed to the disease.

Hookworm and pellagra are widespread, typhoid and colitis are common ailments, and pneumonia and influenza epidemics rage during the winter months.

The work done in this area is for people who are the descendants of fine old American stock, but who suffer because of the isolation of their surroundings and from ignorance, sickness and poverty.

The rain is coming down in torrents and I think April showers have extended themselves all through May. Instead of sun and warmth, I feel as though it were the month of November!

Luckily, our morning was fairly free, with one appointment and a luncheon engagement with Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, before going to see the exhibition of costumes at Wanamakers which was given for the benefit of the children's milk fund in which Mrs. Hearst has long been the moving spirit.

Then we went to Asbury Park, N. J., where I lectured last night, and we had the pleasure of dining with Mrs. Lewis Thompson beforehand. After the lecture was over, we motored back to New York City.

SALLY RAND PLANS MEXICO HOME

NEW YORK, June 1—Max Gordon is recuperating at the Regent Nursing Home . . . Martin Dies is writing a book for Dodd, Mead—to be called "The Trojan Horse in America" . . . Sally Rand is telling reporters in Mexico City that she intends to make her permanent residence there . . . Mrs. Jack Dempsey, who will go to Florida for her divorce, will live at the Dempsey-Vanderbilt Hotel there . . . Mayor LaGuardia, who has been mentioned for appointment as Secretary of War, feels that this post and the job of Secretary of Navy should be one . . . Edmond O'Brien, who grew a beard for his Mercutio role in "Romeo and Juliet," attended the RKO convention and arrived before the clean-shaven Orson Welles did. Ned Depinet, RKO's vice-president, then cleared all doubts for the assembled exhibitors by identifying each: "THIS is O'Brien and THIS is Welles."

FINANCE: Last week, by a decision rendered in the Court of Appeals, a judgment of more than $300,000 was awarded to William S. Hart in his case against United Artists. The final sum, including costs, amounted to $304,589.49 . . . Tuesday United Artists sent the check, in payment of this judgment, to Hart's lawyers, the firm of House, Grossman, Vorhaus & Hemley. The check was for $304,581.24. The defendants added a note, explaining that the item to which they objected was the $8.25 tax for the Execution to the sheriff, because no Execution had been issued.

ENTERPRISE: One of the newest major cafes in the night club circuit is the Club Bali, which opened recently in Philadelphia. It is owned by the three Kalner brothers—one of whom also owns the drug store on the same corner of the street . . . When a host of cafe patrons lined up in the street waiting to enter, Kalner arrived and beamed at this pleasant scene. Then he pointed to the pharmacy he owns and told the waiting patrons: "I beg your pardon, ladies and gentlemen—but there's a terrific sale on tooth paste at the corner drug store."

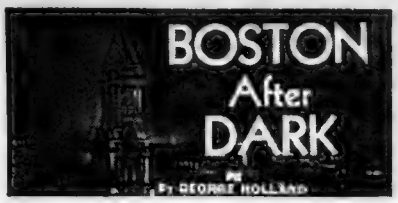
DEFEAT: Peter Arno signed a contract with Simon & Schuster to write a book called "Where are the customers' yachts (A good hard look at Wall Street)" . . . Although the book was to have been ready for publication now, Arno had done nothing about it. His publishers questioned him about it and Arno confessed: "A funny book about Wall Street is not what the world is clamoring for now."



FORMER GOVERNOR CURLEY'S ESCAPE from death came within 24 hours of his telling this department that he "was sitting on top of the world again—and at the age of 65" . . . It seems that a huge deposit of quicksilver has been located in the Curley Luck mining properties, out th'ar in Nevada . . . Quicksilver has soared in price since the war . . . The metal is measured in flasks, and the price has tripled from the pre-war constant of sixty to sixty-five dollars per flask.

MR. CURLEY WAS SO JUBILANT at the news from his mining property that politics seemed to have been subordinated in his thinking to a contemplation of the possible huge profits of his mine . . . At any rate, he parried questions about his intentions in the coming campaign by producing a letter from his superintendent . . . "And it's just a smelting job,"—the extraction of mercury from the cinnabar-bearing ore, according to the Squire of Jamaicaway . . . The auto crash which nearly claimed the former Governor's life occurred on the route his chauffeur usually follows in going to the Cape . . . It's supposed to be an escape from heavy traffic—along Route 138, the Taunton pike . . . But bulletins on the accident said the Squire of Jamaicaway was bound for Providence.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Fred Allen's comedy has become so funny again that his friends think the Boston wit has the objective of making his sponsors regret that they didn't meet the ante of an oil firm (for next season) . . . Featured by a satirical parody of radio customs, the latest Allen program was his best in months . . . There is a chance that Comedian Allen will be among those present at the Colonial Theater tomorrow night when the Iona Club of East Boston takes over the downtown theater for a repeat performance of the revue, "Seeing All Stars" . . . Many of Fred's old comrades of the variety stage are the performers of "Seeing All Stars" . . .

B(ENJAMIN) V. DROHAN IS ONE . . . Lou Brems, the city greeter, is another . . . Dan Creedon and Steve Hughes are others . . . The Iona Club, of which Tom Donahue is president, revived its custom of staging an annual show this year, and the break-in performance was held in the Noddle Island High School . . . When that performance was a sell-out with hundreds of prospective customers unable to get seats, the boys decided to hire a Boston hall for a second showing . . . Seats at the Colonial are going fast.

MANY OF MAYOR TOBIN'S MOST ARDENT supporters are members of the Iona Club . . . His Honor's unexpectedly strict ruling on beano wreaked devastation in more than one bona fide "political club" in the city limits . . . It is not too long a view of the beano situation to predict that the time-honored custom of raising money for such clubs in the way the Iona Club has gone about it (an annual "show," or "show and dance"),

Pinch-Hitting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, June 1—That swell actress, Margaret Sullavan, has just been signed to co-star with Freddie March in "Flotsam," David Loew and Albert Lewin's first joint production. John Cromwell will direct as soon as he finishes Conrad's "Victory" at Paramount.

Authored by Marlene Dietrich's good friend and constant escort, Erich Maria Remarque, "Flotsam" appeared first as a magazine serial and was later published as a novel. It's a moving tale of the plight of Europe's countless refugees. Messrs. Loew and Lewin would like to find a new title for the film version, so if you have any bright ideas speak up.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

GRANDMA BROWN was always very polite. One Saturday night as she was returning home from the market heavily laden with bundles she ran into a young man and apologized profusely.

"Oh that's all right," answered the young man, "let me help you."

Grandma was all smiles. "Oh, thank you so much. Guess I did buy more than I intended to. You see, my son is coming to visit me tomorrow and I want him to have everything he likes."

Grandma Brown and her new friend chatted gayly as they walked along Main st. and then, at her suggestion, they turned into a short, dark street. "A short cut home," she explained. "I never go this way when I am alone."

ABOUT HALF WAY down the short, dark street the young man suddenly laid a heavy hand on grandma's shoulder and exclaimed, "This is a stick up! Hand over that pocket book! Keep quiet and everything will be all right. Kick up any fuss and your son will visit you tomorrow in the morgue."

Grandma Brown managed to keep her voice steady. "Oh, I am so sorry that there is no money in my pocket book. I always charge things at the market. I have lots of money at home in my preserve closet and if you come along with me I'll divide with you. You poor dear boy, how you must need money to be doing this!"

"Okay! Come on and no funny business."

A FEW MINUTES later, at police headquarters, Officer Burke answered the telephone:

"What's that? . . . Sorry to trouble me? . . . Well, get on with the story . . . Got a burglar locked up in your preserve closet? . . . Says he will kill you when he breaks out . . . Holy smoke! Be right over! . . . Yes, 34 Rose ave."

When Officer Burke was leaving 34 Rose ave. with his prisoner, Grandma Brown broke down and cried.

"Oh officer," she sobbed, "I owe this young man an apology. I lied to him. I had all my money in my pocket book. I—"

"There now, grandma," interrupted Officer Burke. "All's fair in love and war and this is war on the under world. This feller is wanted in two states and the way you outsmarted him makes me think you would make a good general."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

ALL RIGHT, I'll admit it . . . I didn't know the location of Finland when the Russian invasion began! I had a vague idea, of course. Just as I had a vague notion about Holland and Belgium, until the other week. Here were nations whose life was vital to my own . . . and yet I could not have told exactly where they stood on any map.

I had the most distorted notions of their people . . . and their standards of living.

In short, I was criminally ignorant about facts which should have been as familiar to me as my own age and street address.

THE SIMPLE TRUTH is, we Americans are the most complacently ignorant people in the civilized world. We know less about our important neighbors than any other cultured people on earth. This might have been a harmless condition once, before the Machine Age eliminated time and space, when we lay weeks or months away from any menacing power.

But it is not a harmless condition today when we are separated, literally, by only a few hours, from the nightmare of war.

THE IGNORANCE OF THE AVERAGE AMERICAN'S MIND IS THE WORST FORM OF UNPREPAREDNESS THAT EXISTS IN THE U. S. A. TODAY.

OUR COMPLETE AND COMPLACENT LACK OF KNOWLEDGE OF THE REST OF THE WORLD IS A GREATER MENACE TO US THAN ALL THE BOMBS, SHIPS, PLANES, SUBMARINES AND TROOPS ANY FOREIGN FOE COULD SEND AGAINST US.

Don't get snooty. I'm including myself in this indictment. And I'm handing on a tip which you can take for what it's worth. I'm getting—and I'm studying—a first-rate map and history of this world. Yes, I studied geography once. But the atlases of my youth, even those of World War No. 1, are as obsolete as the bustles I wore at 19.

So are the histories. They belong to a plan of life which has vanished, to systems of government, economics, industry and sociology which have taken the count for keeps.

SO I'M DOING a job on myself these evenings. I'm reading; I'm gathering the youngsters around a globe. As a woman, I can't hope to defend my country if war should come. But I CAN remove the Oregon Boot of my ignorance from its heel. I can arm myself with knowledge, even if I can't tote a gun.

BLONDIE — There's Gonna Be a Rub In That Alibi!

A Determined Girl

By Roberta Yates

"TOM AND MARION McGREGOR stared at Tom's younger brother, Barry, with the amazement they would give to a harmless lunatic.

"But we never quarrel," Tom said.

"Especially in front of company," Marion amended. "What will this girl think? From what you say she sounds like a nice girl, too."

Barry paced the floor; he waved his arms at them.

"Of course she's a nice girl. Too darned nice. That's why I want her to think that marriage is worse than the Russian army. I tell you, she's got her mind set on marrying me and she's a determined girl. Now listen and I'll explain again. If I ask her here to dinner and you two throw a fight, don't you see it will make her shy off wedding bells?"

"But why don't you marry her?" Marion asked.

Barry shrugged. No good trying to explain to this fatuous pair his allergy to matrimony. He lived comfortably in a bachelors' hotel on his sixty dollars a week. Nobody could tell him he'd be happy meeting bills in a five-room bungalow jail with a wife for jailer.

At thirty Barry McGregor was an expert in escape from marriage. However in former escapes he had merely dropped the would-be-brides and let them lead meeker males to the altar.

Loretta Gardener was different. She didn't drop so easily, partly because Barry liked her too much and partly because she was a determined girl. If he didn't see her for a few days she dropped in at the office to take him riding in a blue roadster that matched her eyes. If she didn't drop in, it was even worse. He went frantic and telephoned her for a date.

ALL THE SYMPTOMS

Yes, both of them had the worst symptoms of those matrimonial measles, which Barry was eager to avoid. Last night, instead of letting him take her to an expensive restaurant, she had asked him to the apartment she shared with another girl, and had concocted an excellent spaghetti dinner, calculated to show what a good cook she was.

The Cast of Characters in "A Determined Girl"

Barry, who prefers bachelorhood.

Loretta, a determined girl.

Marion and Tom, a married couple sworn to help Barry preserve his single happiness.

And, looking into her blue eyes, Barry had seen a new world in which the bungalow looked like a palace instead of a prison. He had kissed her. He had almost proposed to her. Then she had said:

"This would be fun every night. Just a quiet evening at home."

No more bachelor freedom. No more careless poker parties and dances enjoyed from the safety of a stag line. He had grabbed his hat and gotten out just in time.

But he could not drop Loretta as he had other girls. For her to marry another man seemed an even greater catastrophe than for her to marry him. When and if he did surrender to matrimony, she would be his bride. He wanted her available. And meantime he wanted to dine with her and dance with her. The answer then was to cure her temporarily of the matrimonial urge.

Hence the inspiration to show her a horrible example, to wit, the home life of Tom and Marion, that happiest of married couples in Cincinnati. If they would put on a good enough act they would sour Loretta on the tinkle of wedding bells. But he saw now that he would have to resort to bribery.

"I know it sounds like a crazy joke to you, but it's serious to me," he pleaded. "If you'll put on a real fight—argue, throw things, when I bring her here to dinner, I'll buy you that new refrigerator you want."

Tom and Marion looked at each other. Then they nodded.

"We'll try," they promised.

Loretta was pleased, as he had known she would be, to accept the dinner invitation. It was pitiful to see her counting on home atmosphere to prove one thing, when it was going to prove the exact opposite.

The unpleasantness began as soon as they entered the house. Marion explained fretfully that the baby had just upset a vase of flowers over the living room carpet.

"He's teething, so he's as mean as his father," she said, as though that covered her own mussed hair and the fact that she had burned the roast.

THE PLOT FAILS

Then Loretta amazed Barry. Instead of murmuring polite nothings, she marched into the kitchen, donned a becoming apron, and took charge. She shooed Marion away to care for the baby. She whisked the living room clean. She served a perfect dinner. She achieved order from chaos in half an hour. Her blue eyes glowed at Barry as though to say: "See how pleasant marriage is."

The three conspirators felt bewildered. The crux of the make-believe quarrel had concerned dinner, but Loretta had removed that as a cause for complaint. However, Tom and Marion went to work on the bridge game. Marion, normally a reliable player, trumped Tom's tricks and then accused him of misplays. He overbid and blamed her when they were set.

"Everybody bickers over bridge," Loretta said sweetly. "Let's turn on some dance music."

The act was falling flat because she treated it as an unimportant family scrap. Barry whispered angrily to Tom:

"Think fast, brother, if you want that icebox."

The caddish threat sent Tom into action. He flung the cards on the floor and kicked over the bridge table.

"You're darned right we'll quit this game!" he shouted. "If I had my way I'd quit marriage, too. Hook a man and then make his life a burden with bills and babies."

Marion took her cue.

"Hook a man, indeed!" she shrilled. "It was you who begged me to elope with you."

"But it was you who drove across the bridge to Covington, dear," Tom reminded.

How ugly that word "dear" could sound.

Marion clenched her fists.

"And you found the justice who would marry us at night. Didn't you? Answer me that."

They faced each other like two bristling cats. Then suddenly Marion broke into hysterical giggles.

"Oh, I can't keep it up—even for an icebox," she wailed in gales of mirth. "It's all too silly, just because Barry is so afraid of getting married——"

Then she looked at Barry's stricken face; at Loretta's crimson one. She put her hand over her mouth and ran from the room. Loretta ran after her.

Barry and Tom remained in the living room, afraid to look at each other. Over Barry there was sweeping a dread, black realization. He had lost Loretta irretrievably. Worse, he had lost her in the very moment when he realized how much he wanted her. Tonight she had served dinner in a madhouse, serenely, sweetly.

She was the one wife in the world for him. He should have been begging her to marry him instead of cooking up this silly plot to sour her on wedding bells. And soured she was—so far as he was concerned. He saw that in the scornful flash of the blue eyes when she reappeared, wearing her hat and coat.

"You didn't need to go to all this trouble to make a fool of me, Barry," she said icily. "I was fool enough to ever even consider marrying you. I might do it now if you were the last man on earth. That, luckily, is not the case. And you—Tom, next time you want someone to think you're quarreling with Marion, don't hold her hand under the table while you insult her. You put on a rotten performance. And thanks for a lovely evening—both of you."

"I LOVE YOU

She sped out the door. Barry raced after her. He made the roadster only because she had trouble with the starter. They were off in a swirl of gravel. He sneaked a glance at her profile. An adorable but disdainful nose, a delightful but firm chin. After a time he ventured meekly:

"Can you ever forgive me? I was a stupid fool."

"You," said Loretta, "are telling me."

"I love you," he cried. "I've just realized it. The way you acted tonight. So sweet and calm. I'm mad about you. Darling, will you marry me?"

No answer. Blue eyes straight ahead on the road.

"I admit I was an idiot. I admit I asked Tom and Marion to frame this act because — well, I just balked at the idea of settling down even with you, darling. But now I know you and I could be happy ——"

"Don't drivel," said Loretta.

"But I love you. I love you!" Barry howled.

"Hah," said Loretta, without mirth.

"I can't live without you. I'll trail you around until you forgive me to shut me up. I'll hound you until you do marry me."

"That's what Marion said when I talked to her upstairs," Loretta admitted thoughtfully. "She told me you were in love with me or you wouldn't have gone to all this trouble."

"She was right," Barry triumphed. "How right! Marry me now —tonight, Loretta."

"Look at the road," Loretta said cryptically.

Barry looked for the first time. They were through Cincinnati. They were approaching the bridge to Covington, Kentucky.

"Something else Marion told me," Loretta murmured. "The address of that Justice of the Peace who marries people at night."

"Darling," said Barry. "Darling, thank Heaven you're a determined girl."

THE END.

Another interesting short story will appear on this page on Monday.

"You're darned right we'll quit this game!" he shouted. "If I had my way I'd quit marriage, too."

NEW Nash sport car now on exhibit was designed by Count Alexis de Sakhnoffsky. It's said to be the lowest of all American cars, only 53 inches at its highest point.

BUICK IN CUSTOM CAR FIELD

FLINT, Mich., June 1—Further development by Buick in the custom car field was seen today with the completion of a specially constructed series 70 Roadmaster Coupe on a Standard Buick Chassis.

The car was built to specifications prepared by the engineering department for Hood Bassett, son of the late Harry F. Bassett, former president of Buick. It is a sports roadster type, having the long low lines of the open car with convertible features including automatically operated top and conventional retractile door windows and Fisher no-draft ventipanes.

The car has a 126 inch wheelbase and is powered by the series 70 Buick straight eight engine developing 141-horse power. This is the second custom model developed by Buick during the current season, the first being a town car on a series 70 chasis.

PLANNING BIG CELEBRATION

MEETING at City Hall to complete arrangements to bring Edwin C. Hill to Boston for Bunker Hill Day was attended by (l. to r.) Councilor Wm. J. Galvin of Charlestown; E. E. Kalkhof, advertising manager of the American Oil Co.; J. T. McHugh, Katz Advertising Agency; R. W. Reilly, asst.-mgr. Boston division of American Oil Co.; and Louis Brems, director of public celebrations for the city of Boston.

Historic New England As Seen on Auto Tour

This tried and tested motor tour, the second in the Boston Evening American series, requires the best part of a day. To be enjoyed in its fullest an early morning start is recommended.

Test Pilot Howard H. Kirk, manager of the travel service division of the Boston Auto Club, headed the Studebaker Champion onto a four lane highway which avoids traffic and goes through rolling farm country bordering on thriving industrial towns and cities.

Dedham, only ten miles south of Boston, was settled in 1636. The The same year the Fairbanks House was erected. It's believed to be the oldest frame house in the United States. Guides are provided by the Dedham Pottery Company on Pottery lane for those interested in this art.

JEWELRY CENTER

North Attleboro has been associated with the jewelry industry since 1780 and became a jewelry center as early as 1807. The many views of Narragansett Bay are very interesting.

Warren, Rhode Island, original home of what is now Brown University. Massasoit's Spring, named for chief of the Wampanoags, is properly marked for your inspection.

Bristol, scene of activities of notorious Indian Chief King Phillip, famous for its Indian folk lore. Every successful defender of Americas' Cup has been built here since 1893. Several of these are now in drydock and can be inspected.

King Phillip's museum on the Mt. Hope site of King Phillip's original home is an interesting Indian museum and can be inspected by appointment. The Mt. Hope bridge over Mt. Hope Bay affords a remarkable view of both countryside and the bay.

Shortly after crossing the bridge, one will see the largest Grist Mill ever constructed in America. Naval War College, training station, and torpedo stations at Newport, are at the present time scenes of considerable activity.

OCEANFRONT RIDE

One of the highlights of the whole trip is the ten-mile ride along the ocean front—the show place of the East. The Boston Auto Club has available maps of this drive showing artists' sketches, giving names of owners and a number of additional interesting points.

Swiss Village, owned by Commander James, affords a pause, to drive through the grounds of this fine reproduction of a small Swiss Village. On the return Taunton, which became associated with the iron works in 1652.

The speedometer of our Studebaker Champion showed the entire trip is just a little over 150 miles. We found that it could be easily covered, allowing ample time to make a number of short trips to points of interest in just one day.

Nesbitt of the Commonwealth Chevrolet Co., 1065 Commonwealth ave., who won eighth place in the zone in the Chevrolet division of the contest; and Wilbur P. Chase and David E. Ahern of the Cadillac Automobile Co., of Boston, 808 Commonwealth ave., who placed second and third, respectively, in their merit men potential groups in the Cadillac division. All will receive merchandise prizes.

Other winners in this area include Henry J. Seamens and J. Donald Adams, Post Office Garage, Inc., Lowell; H. K. Atkinson, Dunham Pontiac Co., Needham; Franklin E. Redmond, Robert E. Wood, Franklin C. Matthews, and Thomas J. Feeney, Jr., Medford Buick Co., Medford.

Charles Pernokas, Luckenbach Motor Sales, Inc., Winchester; Robert A. Mitchell, Smith Motor Co., Lawrence; Harold A. Bauld, R. H. Long Motor Sales Co., Framingham; H. A. Crocker, Healer Motors, Inc., Watertown, and Paul R. Spinney, Woodward's Garage, Inc., Milton.

The contest, which was open to retail salesmen employed by Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick, LaSalle and Cadillac agencies throughout the country, climaxed an educational campaign emphasizing body features that was started with the introduction of the new models.

Evans Associated With Morley Motors

Edward L. Evans who has been associated with the Ford Motor Co. for ten years and for two years with Arthur Coombs has now become associated with the Morley Motors, Inc., Lincoln-Zephyr and Mercury distributors.

Evans has been on the avenue for the past 29 years in the capacity of a salesman.

New Car Sales Show Big Gain

Retail sales of new passenger cars and trucks in the United States totaled 410,921 units in April a gain of 31.9 per cent over April 1939.

Registration of new cars in Massachusetts according to figures released by Herbert Dodge of Direct Mail Service shows April 1940 up 22 per cent over April 1939.

New car registrations for the first four months of 1940 show Massachusetts volume was 40,434 units against 35,549 for the other five New England states combined.

While Massachusetts enjoyed the largest volume its per cent of increase was only 17 per cent while the other five New England states enjoyed these increases.

New Hampshire, up 33 per cent; Maine, up 27 per cent; Vermont, up 60 per cent; Rhode Island up 10 per cent and Connecticut, up 43 per cent.

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

IT IS NOT MY intention to try to write anything sentimental about the death of James W. Reardon, first editor of the Boston Evening American, as he would not wish it.

When other people have passed on to their reward in Life Eternal, I have often heard Mr. Reardon say, "He was a good man." I shall merely use his own language now and state he was a good man.

Mr. Reardon drew a sharp line between the words great and good. He liked people who possessed kindness and generosity as well as ability.

One day when I was doing reporting at the Court House, I saw Mr. Reardon sitting at the table with the defense counsel. A boy in his 'teens was charged with a serious crime. A jury later found the boy not guilty.

"I never met this boy until I saw him in court," Mr. Reardon told me. "I have known the boy's father for years and he is a fine man. I could not picture such a good father having a son who would commit a serious crime. I am happy the jury agreed with my way of thinking."

I always felt that Mr. Reardon would have been a famous trial lawyer if he had devoted himself to the law rather than to the newspaper business. He had the type of mind that would grasp every detail in the most involved court case.

* * *

Considered John L. Sullivan Greatest Champ

AS IS TRUE of all editors who at one time had worked in the sports department, Mr. Reardon never lost his keen interest in boxing, baseball and in other branches of sports. During a recent visit to Mr. Reardon, we discussed the present crop of heavyweights.

"I have seen all of the champions with the exception of Joe Louis," said Mr. Reardon. "I still consider John L. Sullivan the greatest of the lot. He was fast and powerful and a terrific hitter. Jim Corbett beat Sullivan when the latter had slowed down and put on a great deal of unnecessary weight."

I asked Mr. Reardon if it were true that John L. died broke.

"John L. had $4000 to $5000 when he died on his farm at North Abington," replied the editor. "I used to visit with John L. until a few days before he died.

"I once financed a tour on which John L. delivered temperance lectures. The tour was a terrible flop as nobody wanted to listen to the former champion talk against liquor. During the latter years of his life, Sullivan rode on the water wagon."

Joe Walcott, Honey Mellody, Sam Langford and Mike Twin Sullivan, Jim Maloney, Jack Sharkey and other local ring stars came in for mention from Mr. Reardon.

Knew History of Old Boston

THERE WAS NOT anybody who knew the history of old Boston as well as Mr. Reardon. He got a particular delight telling about famous eating places, and the colorful people who had frequented them.

Always among the first to be at the office in the morning, Mr. Reardon was a human dynamo in accomplishing things. He knew all the important people in the city, and always had the patience to guide young reporters. The editor would tell the reporter who to see to get the facts.

"Tell him Jim Reardon sent you to him," he would say.

Mr. Reardon took the greatest amount of pride out of the various things he had done to make Christmas happier for the readers of this newspaper. Last Christmas Day the tears came to his eyes as he read a story in the Sunday Advertiser which told how he had established the custom of having a Christmas Tree on Boston Common. At that time he talked about the Christmas Basket Fund which he had founded and which charity through the years furnished food for thousands of deserving families.

Knew Four Generations of Bostons

WHEN MR. REARDON first met some of the little Bostons, his face beamed with happiness.

"I have now met four generations of Bostons," he said enthusiastically as he addressed the children. "I have known your father since I gave him a job when he was a boy going to high school. I know your grandfather, Eddie Conway, from the time we were boys together in the South End. Your great grandfather was my god-father. I can remember his black whiskers even now.

"I can recall the night he visited our home to present my father with his Civil War rifle as my dad planned a trip to the West where he died with other pioneers."

To those of us who knew him the memory of Mr. Reardon will always remain bright.

JIM TABOR INJURES EYE; MARVIN OWEN AT THIRD

By BILL GRIMES

FENWAY PARK, June 1—Mickey Harris, brilliant Red Sox southpaw, was Manager Cronin's choice to stop the White Sox in their single encounter here this afternoon. Jack Knott was elected to do honors for the invading White Sox.

LOU FINNEY HERB HASH

MINUTE MEN—Beau Brummells, too, are Lou Finney and Herb Hash, men of the day in Red Sox circles. Finney got five out of six in second game of Memorial Day doubleheader with Yanks, to give him league lead with .396. Hash pitched same game, first complete fray he pitched in majors.

Jim Tabor, Sox third sacker, was hit on the right eye in batting practice and was forced to watch the contest from one of the field boxes. Marvin Owen, substitute infielder, took over Tabor's post at third.

FIRST INNING

WHITE SOX—Kennedy lined to Cramer. Kuhel popped to Owen. Kreevich struck out. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Finney flied to Rosenthal. McNair threw out Cramer. Williams flied to Kreevich. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

WHITE SOX—Wright walked. Appling forced Wright, Doerr to Cronin. Rosenthal popped to Owen. Owen threw out McNair. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Foxx flied to Kreevich. Cronin fouled to Tresh. Doerr doubled, Owen flied to Kreevich. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

WHITE SOX—Thresh was safe when Cronin fumbled. On an attempted sacrifice Knott forced Tresh, Harris to Cronin. Kennedy hit into a double play, Owen to Foxx. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Desautels lined to Kennedy. Knott threw out Harris. Finney angled Cramer fouled to Kuhel. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

WHITE SOX—Kuhel bunted and was thrown out by Harris. Kreevich flied to Finney. Wright flied to Williams. NO RUNS.

RED SOX — Williams singled. Foxx hit the first ball pitched over the left center field wall for his 12th home run, Williams scoring in front of him. Cronin was called out on strikes. Kennedy threw out Doerr. Owen walked. Desautels singled, sending Owen to third. Harris walked, filling the bases. Finney grounded out to Kuhel. TWO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING

WHITE SOX—Appling got the first hit off Harris, a single to left. Rosenthal walked. McNair forced Rosenthal at second, Cronin to Doerr. Appling going to third. McNair was out stealing, Desautels to Cronin, as Tresh struck out. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Cramer was thrown out by McNair. Williams singled. Foxx beat out an infield hit to

GENE MOORE IN RIGHT FIELD; WEST IN CENTER

CINCINNATI, O., June 1—It was June on the calendar here today when Casey Stengel's Bees started their second western trip of the season by meeting the champion first place Reds with Sailor Bill Posedel on their mound opposing Gene Thompson.

But it wasn't June overhead. The temperature was mild enough but the skies threatened to spill more rain any minute and make this the 12th successive day on which rain has fallen on this park.

Gene Moore was in right field for the Bees. Max West moved over to center.

FIRST INNING

BEES—Sisti beat out a bunt. Moore grounded into a double play, McCormick to Myers to McCormick. Hassett flied to Rizzo—NO RUNS.

REDS—Miller threw out Craft. Hassett made a fine stop of Frey's grounder and threw to Posedel who covered first. Goodman fouled to Lopez.—NO RUNS.

CRAIG WOOD, WITH 264 IN METROPOLITAN OPEN, WINS "MAN OF WEEK" AWARD

By International News Service

Craig Wood, big blond bomber of the golf links, draws the little brass ring this week for setting a new record in winning the Metropolitan open, the first major tournament he ever won in years of hard campaigning.

He turned in rounds of 64, 66, 68, 66 for a 264 total which clipped three strokes off the record set by MacDonald Smith 26 years ago.

Although he always has been recognized as one of the outstanding stars of the game, the Winged Foot pro's career has been studded with disappointments.

He has spent years finishing second in major events with the diadem always just eluding his grasp.

One time he finished second to Denny Shute in the British open. He finished in a 3-way tie for the National open last year with this same Shute and Byron Nelson only to lose out to Nelson in the second play-off. And once he carried Paul Runyan to 38 holes before losing out for the P. G. A. title.

But of all his disappointments the worst probably came the year that Gene Sarazen won the masters' tournament.

Wood was in the clubhouse kissing his wife in celebration of his victory and accepting congratulations when word came in that Sarazen had shot the now famous double eagle on the final hole to beat him.

Bitter pills like these would have been enough to poison almost anybody's disposition but they failed to ruffle the big fellow who kept plugging away confident that his day would come.

He has won his share of prize money even if until now the main prize eluded him so often and he is in great demand as a teacher, giving not fewer than 1300 lessons a year.

At 33, he still has several good years of competitive golf left and will be one of the favorites for the national open next week.

BLOZIS BETTERS SHOT MARK

Georgetown Star Cops Shot Crown

HARVARD STADIUM, June 1—Al Blozis, the Georgetown powerhouse, catapulted to a second successive meet record in as many days when he put the shot 53 feet 9¼ inches, a mighty effort which not only won him a first place but also highlighted the finals of the 64th annual IC4A track and field games held under a surprisingly clear, warm sun here this afternoon.

Blozis, who led both the shot put and discus trial fields yesterday with new IC4A marks, bettered his Friday achievement on his first two tries today, reaching 53 feet 8 inches on his first for a record and then adding still more distance on his second.

But Blozis reserved the real thrill of the competition for later. Posing for cameramen, the Georgetown giant came through with his superlative put, a toss of 55 feet 8 inches, just shy of the American record, but a heave which naturally does not go in to the books.

All five of today's shot put winners bettered their trial marks, although the order of finishers remained the same.

Thanks to Supt. Dennis Enright's untiring efforts—having been out on the track fro m4 a. m.—the cinders were well dried out, and the finals were being held under far more pleasant conditions than the previous day. A goodly crowd of 6000 sat in under warm suns.

Both Ed Dugger of Tufts and Jay Shields of Yale equalled the current mark of 14.4 seconds in their respective semi-final heats of the 120-yard high hurdles.

MacMITCHELL WINS MILE

Leslie MacMitchell of N. Y. U let his rivals set the pace in the one-mile run, content to hang back in third place. But midway down the back stretch of the fourth and final lap, MacMitchell beat Richard Morse the leader and opened up a 15-yard advantage which he maintained to the finish line.

The real race was for second, with Donald Smith, of Maine just nipping Morse for runner-up honors. The winning time was fast for the track, 4 min. 19-4/10 sec.

"LAST ONE IN . . ."—Alfred Diebolt of Colgate was first in the third heat of the 440. Note how track is completely covered with water.

Martin Biles, 209-foot hurler from California, who failed to qualify for I. C. 4-A finals in javelin throw at Stadium. Biles was pre-meet favorite. Other Californians slumped, too, so they failed to spear title as they had expected.

MILKMAN SMITH HOPS OFF WAGON TO WIN 10-MILER

Joe Smith, galloping North Medford milkman, made his deliveries as usual from 1:30 this a. m. until 12 noon, hurried over to the starting line and then scampered away from a field of high class plodders in the 10-mile road race sponsored by the James Monroe Club in conjunction with Dorchester Day celebration today.

It was Smith's first road race triumph in his one year of running, and the North Medford Club colorbearer scored very impressively, taking the lead at the seven mile mark and drawing away to a 100-yard win over Frank Darragh of the N. Y. M. A., who finished second.

DE MAR 24th

Clarence De Mar was 24th crossing the finish line, but as usual the Keene champion drew the majority of ploudits from the crowd.

The race got underway at the corner of Bowdoin and Hendrey sts., in front of the Monroe clubhouse, went through Wasnington st., Columbia rd., Dorchester ave., Adams st., and back to Broadway, finishing at the clubhouse.

At the three-mile mark it was Harvey Varnasse of the Irish-American club of New Bedford, setting the early pace. He faltered to finish eighth. Johnny Semple, veteran B. A. A. plodder, took over matters at the halfway mark, but was supplanted by Walter Jarvis of Central Falls, R. I.

As the field swung into Peabody square, or approximately the seventh mile, Smith went to the front and jogged along in great form, crossing the finish line full of ginger as his wife and baby daughter spurred him on.

DARRAGH TIME WINNER

The NYMA organization captured the team prize by one point over the North Medford Club. B.A.A. was third.

Ralph Holland was awarded the prize for being the first Dorchester man to finish. He was 13th. Frank Darragh took the time prize, his correct time being 53:39.

'Defensive' Stars Prove Bat Leaders

CHICAGO, June 1 (AP)—Cleveland has only two regulars batting over .300—Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack, the two rookies brought in to strengthen the team defensively.

Manager Oscar Vitt turned the shortstop post over to Boudreau and the second base job over to Mack at the start of the season, and he's had few worries about either position since.

Seasoned observers say their brilliant defensive play has "made" the team, but not even the most optimistic figured the keystone kids would make much of a dent in big league pitching.

The 23-year-old Mack, a Bohemian and native of Cleveland, is hitting .363, sixth best average in the league. He got away to a slow start, but in the past two weeks has been clouting at a sensational .478 pace.

Boudreau, a much better hitter than Mack when they cavorted for Buffalo in the International League, is hitting .329, 11th in the circuit and is tied with Mack for leadership in the production of doubles, each having 13

Vitt called Boudreau and Mack in from Buffalo late last season and saw enough to satisfy him. Several critics think the Indians capable of giving the Yankees a battle all the way if these freshmen keep up their smooth double play work and hit within 30 points of their present pace.

Boudreau, only 22 years old, started out as a catcher, but his father, an oldtime player himself, persuaded him to try an infield spot. He got his degree from the University of Illinois last winter.

Mack, who had his name changed legally from Mickovsky, is a mechanical engineering graduate off Case, where he played football. He got his baseball training in amateur leagues around his home town.

Post $5000 Title Bout Guarantee

DETROIT, June 1 (AP)—A $5000 guarantee that Billy Conn, light heavyweight boxing champion, and Challenger Gus Lesnevich would meet the 175-pound limit for their 15 round title fight here next Wednesday night was posted with the State Boxing Commission today by Promoter Jack Nelson.

The guarantee—$2500 by each fighter—had been ordered by Boxing Commissioner John J. Hettche following reports the champion was having difficulty in shedding excess poundage.

Y. D. Boxing Bouts Thursday

An amateur boxing show, interspersed with acts of vaudeville, such as were staged for the "doughboys" overseas in the World War, will be one of the big features of the annual convention and "Second Home Coming" of the Yankee Division in Boston next week.

Every effort will be made by the committee in charge to make the out of the front line trenches. It program reminiscent of the, boxing shows that the boys enjoyed in their rest periods, after coming will be staged as the Yankee Division in France Show and will be held at Mechanics Building next Thursday evening, the opening day of the convention.

Many of the leading amateur pugilists in New England have entered the lists, and there will be 12 bouts, as well as at least a dozen vaudeville acts and other features.

There will be four classes of bouts, four boys to a class. The classes are 126, 135, 147 and 160 pounds.

Entries will close at the YD Club, cafe of Benjamin James, 200 Huntington ave., next Thursday, at 6 p. m.

Three Sox Players Among First Ten

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP)—Add Outfielder Lou Finney to the list of reasons Boston's Red Sox are at the head of the American League parade.

Lou, just another one of the players Tom Yawkey's "cabbage" picked up from the Athletics, is the new pace setter of the junior circuit batters, picking up one point during the last week to sport a neat .396 mark for the season today. He's one of three clouters the Sox have in the top 10.

At the same time, Harry the Hoss Dannung, tireless catcher of the New York Giants, went farther than ever ahead of the National League belters. The Hoss dropped from .394 to .382 during the week, but his loss was nothing like those of his nearest rivals of a week ago. As a result, he is flying ahead with a 24-point bulge, while Dixie Walker, the ex-American Leaguer now with Brooklyn, has pulled up from fifth to second place with .354.

Finney walloped at a .400 batting pace for the week, collecting 10 hits in 25 trips to the plate. Frankie Hayes, Athletics catcher and leader the previous week, lost 25 points, dropped to .392 and sank to third place. Rip Radcliff of the Browns remained second, but lost 14 points. Only newcomer to show in the junior circuit's top 10 was Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's infield rookie, who moved into 10th place with .327.

Met Tennis League Opens Season Today

The Metropolitan Tennis League, a new organization, opens its season this afternoon with a match between the Bay State Tennis Club of Dorchester and the Boston Y. M. C. A. on the latter's courts on Huntington ave.

Other members of the league are the Almont Tennis Club of Mattapan, Charles River Tennis Club of Cambridge and the Paul Revere Tennis Club of Revere.

Park Commissioner William Long has been invited to hit the first ball over the net in the Bay State-Y matches this afternoon.

Takes Horse Sale to Court

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 1 (AP)—When the chestnut filly Myrna led the field home in the second race at Narragansett Park recently and won a $700 purse, she made the groundwork for litigation which started here in two courts.

Mrs. Virginia Fawcett of Evansville, Ind., plaintiff, claims she is the owner of the horse and that its sale for $1000 to an agent of Arthur T. Litchfield of Cambridge, Mass., was made without her permission by a trainer formerly in her employ.

She brought action in the Tenth District Court, this city, to recover the horse's winnings, and in the Seventh District Court, East Providence, to recover the horse.

Pay From Your Profits!!

WIN $200.00 FIRST—THEN PAY US ! ! !

This is unquestionably the fairest proposition ever offered Racing Fans. It should have special appeal to those who have paid for losers as on this plan you pay for WINNERS ONLY.

LAST SIX DAYS THE PROFITS on this Plan Amounted to $245.40
Friday's Co-operative Releases

POSTERITY TRIMMED — $9.40 WON — $7.20 WON

Thursday's Co-operative Releases		Wednesday's Co-operative Releases
FULLORUN	$17.40 WON	STINGING	$11.80 WON
WHISKOLO	$6.80 WON	BRIGHT SOX	$8.20 WON

Nothing is stopping us now. We went over the $200.00 mark the past six days as we have done many times before. The coming six days should eclipse anything that has gone before and that's saying plenty when you glance at the record above. And the best part of it all is that you ONLY PAY US FROM YOUR PROFITS. Could any offer be fairer?

Here's how the plan works—We will mail you the Co-operative two horses by overnight mail. You play a $2.00 parlay on these horses daily and at the end of six days, when your profits reach the $200.00 goal, then you send us 10% of your profits. If profits do not amount to $200.00 YOU OWE US NOTHING. Due to the tremendous expense involved in getting this service organized, indexed, etc., and sending releases to you, we must ask that all subscribers wire or mail us $5.00 in advance to show good faith. When you remit your share of the profits you deduct this $5.00.

Freeloaders and those whose intentions are not honorable please keep away. This proposition is intended ONLY for those who will play fair. Clients must remit our share of profits at the end of six days or their names will be removed from our books. Wire or mail $5.00 immediately to assure your getting listed to participate in this plan. Bob C. Rallies To Win First At Suffolk

By TOM SHEHAN

SUFFOLK DOWNS, June 1—Apparently beaten 70 yards from the finish line after giving up the ghost when H. L. Straus' Paper Drop challenged at the far turn, J. J. Powers' Bob C. came on again to annex a two-and-one-half length victory in the opening race on the program here today.

Although the sun was out when the program got underway, the track was designated as heavy when Weston W. Adams' Circus Night and Bob C. won the first two events to pay off $34.20 to those who cornered them in the daily double.

FREE AGAIN FADES

Willie Prehm took back Weston W. Adams' Circus Night off the pace after breaking her out of the gate alertly at the start of the first race.

Going into the stretch, however, he roused the Bagenbaggage-Circus Day four-year-old filly, and she responded well enough to have four lengths in her favor crossing the finish line.

Circus Night was clocked in 1.19.2 and returned $13.80 to those who supported her in victory, her first of the year in nine starts.

D. Harrison's Free Again, favored in the wagering, cut out most of the early pace, but could not meet the drive of the winner and faded rapidly to be only a neck in front of Mrs. W. T. Freeman's Pedant at the end.

Free Again paid $3.40 to place. Pedant returned $4.60 to show and was a length and a half in front of H. Windhorst's Falkland.

BOB C. PAYS $6.60.

The second race was featured by the duel between W. F. Vollmer's Of Course, H. L. Straus' Paper Drop and J. J. Powers' Bob C., with the latter getting the verdict at the end of six furlongs negotiated in 1.20.

Walter Lee Taylor put the winner, a five-year-old gelded son of Transmute-Another Gift, to a stout drive through the stretch in making his mount come on again to annex victory.

Bob C. paid $6.60 to win. Hal Price Hadley's Mister Major finished second and paid $11.00 to place. Two lengths away was the Fading Paper Drop that returned $2.60 to show. Of Course finished fourth.

New Sensation In Texas Loop Cards Property

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 1 (AP)—Howard Pollet, Houston hurler only four months out of high school, has pitched himself into a modern Texas League record with 11 victories and no losses.

Back in 1895 a Dallas pitcher named Woodruff won 11 games and lost none, but who he was, where he came from and where he went, not even W. B. Ruggiees, league statistician, knows.

Pitching his 12th game of the season last night, Pollet had a close squeeze, his youthful teammates, Steve Warchol and Ed Wassman, stopping a dangerous rally after Pollet was removed in the eighth. Houston won, 7 to 4.

Incidentally, this trio is rated as one of the best kid pitching corps in baseball. You can look for it in the St. Louis Cardinal roster next year.

While Pollet is tied for consecutive victories without a prior loss, he has nine games to go to surpass the consecutive mark established in 1917 by James Patrick (Snipe) Conley. Conley lost a game, though, before he started on his 19-game winning streak.

Pollet is playing his second season in professional baseball. A left-hander, he started with the New Iberia in the Evangeline League. He pitched 42 1-3 consecutive scoreless innings and won 14 and lost five games over the season after a stagefright start.

Twice this season he has pitched two-hit games and leads the league in strikeouts, and averages about two bases on balls per game.

Bettino Faces McCoy At Garden Next Week

In keeping with his new policy of presenting a "name" fighter against some New England product, the Goodwin A. C. will bring Mello Bettina of New York, former world's light heavyweight champion, to the Boston Garden next Friday. He will meet Al McCoy, the New England champion.

Somerville, Arlington In Baseball Playoffs

Somerville High School, the only Greater Boston school with an undefeated slate, Arlington and Brockton, were the three schools selected to compete in the sixth annual Eastern Massachusetts Interscholastic championship starting next Wednesday at National League Field.

Five other qualifiers will be decided by playoffs Monday afternoon. They are Quincy, Norwood, Attleboro, Taunton, Salem, Newburyport, Belmont, Chelmsford, Milford and Needham.

Indianapolis Pilot Fined for Ump' Row

COLUMBUS, O., June 1 (INS)—For verbal abuse of Umpire Forrest Peters, Wes Griffin, manager of the Indianapolis Indians, was fined $25 today by American Ass'n President George M. Trautman.

The alleged abuse occurred during the second game of a memorial double-header at Louisville.

PETS—They don't draw like the Red Sox but these infield members of Olympets are magnetic to thousands of Bostonians. Left to right: Gabby Chiano, 2b; Rose Boyle, 3b; Marion Schulze, 1b; Mildred Mooney, ss; Ellie Haydock, 3b. Miss Haydock and Miss Boyle are batting it out with Edna Stafford for the 3rd base position.

Olympets Lose Star Player

When the Boston Olympets make their second appearance of the season next Tuesday night against the Franklin Cleaner Girls of Springfield, they may be without the services of Edna Stafford, star third base player.

The Wakefield miss injured her right wrist sliding into home plate in the opener against the Fisk girls of Springfield, last Tuesday. X-rays have been taken of the injured member but no report of the seriousness of the injury has been given Garden officials.

If Miss Stafford who led the Pets at bat last season with a .426 percentage is unable to play, the Boston entry will lose their best all-round performer.

Tomorrow afternoon, they will trek to Springfield for a return engagement with the Fisk girls in an outdoor game.

Elect Officers For I. C. 4-A Board

The United States Naval Academy and St. John's University were elected to membership in the IC-4A at the annual meeting of the board of directors yesterday.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were John A. Aaron, Pennsylvania, president; William F. Robinson, Cornell, vice president; Thomas Kupper, Columbia, secretary; H. Jamison Swarts, Pennsylvania, treasurer; Asa S. Bushnell, Central Office executive officers; and H. Jamison Swarts, Pennsylvania, representing Central Office executive council.

BEWARE MR. GODOY! LOUIS IS PITCHING HARD ONE AGAIN

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 1 (INS)—Joe Louis seems to have regained his fast ball in training at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., for his heavyweight championship defense against Arturo Godoy at Yankee Stadium on the evening of June 20, and if this be so, then Godoy may join the ranks of those who unwisely have failed to let well enough alone.

At the start of his prize fighting career Louis used really to crack down on his spar mates in preparation for his battles. Lately he has been content merely to get in a good workout, until now we find him banging away again as of old.

However, Godoy is braving a jinx that none has been able to break so far, the same being to win from or make Louis look bad in a return bout.

Godoy came fairly close to outpointing the champion last February in a dull match that showed Louis up at his worst, much as Lee Ramage, Natie Brown and Bob Pastor had previously done, not to mention Max Schmeling, who scored that all-time upset knockout.

But they all got theirs in return matches, and Louis quite obviously is determined to keep that record of his for getting even intact.

Earlier in the week he knocked out George Nicholson, a confirmed and habitual sparring partner who previously had gone more than 200 training rounds with the champion, without suffering anything worse than a quick knockdown prior to the second Pastor fight at Detroit last September.

And by the way, Louis knocked Nicholson cold with the big gloves, utilizing a left hook and a right cross to bring his huge partner into a sudden and complete coma.

NEVER OFF FEET

If Louis can knock Godoy out as he seems so intent upon doing, it will be something akin to a major accomplishment for the simple reason that Godoy boasts of never having been off his feet after 15 rounds with Louis, two wins over Tony Galento and one start against Roscoe Toles who ended the career of Jimmy Adamick.

Godoy actually can't fight much and is an extremely poor hitter for a heavyweight, but he is experienced and rough and tough, points which proved to be in his favor in his previous bout with the champion.

Moreover, he is managed, coached, coerced and cajoled by one Al Weill, who is notorious for his ability to change a fighter's style almost overnight to take advantage of any opponent's weakness and enhance his own assets, whatever they may be.

BANKS ON NONSENSE

Godoy's style befuddled Louis before, not Godoy's ability. To counteract all that Louis has had four sparring hand-picked partners of Godoy's general style and stature doing the things Godoy can be expected to do—if Weill hasn't figured out something new.

Godoy gives no indication of a switch in tactics at his Carmel, N. Y., quarters. He will clown and clutch and grab and bang away in close.

THE WORD "ECDYSIAST" has served as a splendid item of exploitation for pretty Georgia Sothern, who is the featured ecdysiast this week at the Old Howard . . . Miss Sothern, having come across the word some place—perhaps in the dictionary—decided to try its value as a wedge for an exchange of correspondence with London's Lord Chamberlain . . . (He is the official censor) . . . Georgia suggested that the word be adopted because of its superior euphony and grace in comparison with the more familiar "strip-teaser," its—says Georgia—synonym.

FROM FROGMORE HOUSE (where the Lord Chamberlain holds forth), and in spite of the war, the Lord Chamberlain's office sent the following reply: "Dear Madam: I am desired by the Lord Chamberlain to acknowledge the receipt of your letter on the subject of striptease displays and to inform you that its contents are noted. Yours faithfully, etc." . . . The Lord Chamberlain, apparently, spurned the less familiar "ecdysiast" . . . Or else he looked it up and wasn't satisfied with its perfect synonymity.

BOB HOPE WILL RETREAT from Chicago with more than $20,000 in his jeans in exchange for a week's work at the Chicago theater . . . No less, and probably more than that amount will accrue to the comedian when he finishes up Wednesday at Loew's State in New York . . . There were so many fans milling outside Ebbets Field Thursday, Coach Charlie Dressen had to get police escort to get into the park . . . Byron Nelson, the open champ, threw his first golf cup away because it represented second place, not first . . . Elbie Fletcher of the Pirates is a real grand slam specialist. He's socked only about two dozen homers in his life, but four of 'em exploded with the bases jammed.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Arthur E. Patterson, N. Y. Herald-Tribune: "The reaction of Brooklyn fans to Thursday's double defeat of their favorites was, to put it mildly, eccentric . . . at one stage the grounds police were throwing out more men than the infielders"

International League writers are saying all sorts of nice things about young Eddie Collins in the Baltimore outfield . . . One paper reports Branch Rickey made a special trip to Philly to give the Cards a pep talk. The Cards responded by losing three games . . . Jesse Owens, former great track star, is barnstorming with a Negro baseball team. His act is to run 100 yards against a polo pony . . . Mickey Walker has opened and is personally conducting a bar and grill at Kingston, N. Y. . . . The golf oldsters have a mild mad on with Prof. Harvey Lehman of Ohio U., who says the golfer's best years are from 25 to 34.

BASEBALL ODDITIES

Johnny Mize of the Cards had only one put-out at first against the Cubs the other day . . . and Carl Hubbell, who just missed a no-hitter against the Dodgers, hasn't pitched .500 ball against the Brooks, losing 26 out of 49 games.

Butland, Hash Answer To Cronin's Prayers

By BILL GRIMES

"Naturally, the fact that the Red Sox cleaned up both ends of their twogame series with the A's over in Philadelphia and broke even with the Yankees in New York, registered very favorably with me," admitted Manager Joe Cronin this morning while studying weather conditions in the vicinity of Fenway Park, "but they failed to overshadow the fine pitching performances of Bill Butland and Herb Hash.

"Since Pres. Bill Harridge sprung the American League barrier some six weeks ago, I had been trying to get Butland into a game. He came up with a fine reputation and, so, I was very anxious to see just how good he really was, with the pressure on. He'd shown plenty of stuff in batting practise and moreover he looks and acts like a ball player.

TOUGH ON BUTLAND

"I can appreciate Butland's mental condition when he went to the mound against the Athletics down in Philly. He had been hanging around for about five weeks waiting for me to give him the nod to relieve some hurler who had gone sour. I don't doubt but that every time I signaled some other pitcher to come in and passed him up, Butland began to feel that he hadn't shown me enough to warrant a trial.

"Bill Butland is only a kid. As I recall, he celebrated his 22d birthday early in March. At that age, it doesn't require much to lose confidence, especially when a kid is passed up as frequently as I was obliged to give Butland the go-by.

WILL MAKE THE GRADE

"Judging from his performance in Shibe Park, Butland will be far more effective on his next start. He was nervous. He hadn't been in a game all spring. It was his major league debut. He was a trifle too careful with his pitches and therefore got too many balls over the plate. That accounts for the fact that the Athletics reached him for twelve hits. However, when ever he was in trouble he unloaded and showed me that he has what it takes to make the grade up here.

"Then, Herbie Hash came up with a fine victory over the Yankees on the holiday, despite the fact that he was pitching before probably twice as many fans —and very hostile ones at that— as he'd ever seen in any ball park.

CRONIN'S PRAYER ANSWERED

"Right now, I'd say that Butland and Hash are the answers to the prayers I've been offering up for five years. They are youngsters and therefore haven't left their effectiveness in the minors. They will get better as the season rolls on!"

"I'm glad to be back home for a fortnight for I believe that by the time that we start on our next trip through the West, we'll have acquired a comfortable lead over the other contenders for the American League pennant," confessed Manager Cronin.

FOXX LIKES FENWAY

"But, don't get me wrong and figure that I'm under the impression that we are 'homers.' Far be it. However, I must admit that we usually do 'cut the mustard' at Fenway Park.

Circus Night had good speed from the start, was taken in hand after a quarter, was shaken up mildly in the stretch and held her advantage to the end. Free Again, in hand for almost a half-mile, was put to strong pressure thereafter, but could not get to the winner. Pedant lacked early speed, saved much ground on the stretch turn and finished strongly. Falkland was under pressure from soon after the start and held on fairly well in the drive. Strange Times tired after racing prominently for a half-mile. Sun High and Way Yonder were eased in the stretch.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs, purse $1000, for four-year-olds and up, claiming. Start good from Puett gate, won ridden out, place driving. Went 2:52, off 2:54. Winner—J. Powers' br.g. (5), Transmute—Another Gift. Trained by G. Felker. Value to winner $700, $150, $100, $50. Time—:24 1-5, :51, 1:20.

Bob C had good speed from the beginning, was taken in hand when outrun by Paper Drop, responded to pressure in the drive, was bumped by Paper Drop while taking command and drew out at the end. Mister Major was taken up soon after the start, was put to pressure on the turn, saved ground entering the stretch and finished strongly. Paper Drop took command after a quarter without need of strong urging, swerved out into the winner in the stretch and weakened in the last eighth. Of Course, in hand early, was shaken up nearing the stretch and weakened in the drive. Ladfield raced wide and could not get to the leaders. Shantime was outrun.

BEES-REDS

SECOND INNING

BEES—West lined to Myers. Thompson threw out Ross. Cuccinello walked. Frey threw out Lopez. NO RUNS.

REDS—McCormick singled. A long argument developed on what Umpire Stewart at first called "ball four" while Lombardi was at bat and then ruled that it was a strike. Following the pitch McCormick took a lead off first and was trapped by Lopez's throw to Hassett but Stewart declined to call McCormick out or give Lombardi a walk. Manager Stengel of the Bees then announced the game would be played under protest. Lombardi doubled, on the next pitch, McCormick scoring. Werber flied deep to West. Miller threw out Rizzo. Myers bunted safely to Cuccinello, Lombardi holding second. Thompson took a third strike. ONE RUN.

THIRD INNING

BEES—Miller fouled to Rizzo. Postel flied to Rizzo, Myers threw out Stirl. NO RUNS.

M'QUINN HOMERS AGAINST YANKEES

While the Indians and Athletics battled at Philadelphia today, the Red Sox were keeping their eye on the World Champion Yankees, who were meeting the Browns in New York.

Spurgeon Chandler was pitching for the Yanks, and he was opposed by Emil Bildilli, young southpaw, who beat the champions earlier in the season.

At the end of the third inning the clubs were deadlocked at 3-all.

McQuinn of the Browns homered in the first inning.

The Yanks took the lead in the last of the fifth when George Selkirk homered with two on.

Meanwhile the Athletics were leading the Indians while the Red Sox were leading the White Sox. If the A's could maintain their lead, it would help the Red Sox materially in their flag drive.
